CITY GARBAGE FORCE IS CUT TO SAVE MONEY

Service Director Maps Out Program To Keep Department Within Income.

STUDIES OTHER SYSTEMS

Three Wagons Taken Off; Employes Reduced from 21 to 15 Men.

An effort to bring the cost of operating the garbage collection department within its income by reducing the equipment and extending the routes, was disclosed at the meeting of city council last night when a resolution to sell part of the equipment, including three trailers, was presented and passed by that body

Following the reading of the resolution, which called for the sale of nine head of horses, five double sets of harness, three steel trailers and 225 bales of straw, W G Slack chairman of the finance committee of council, inquired if the city was going out of the garbage collection business.

Force Reduced

Service Director E O Uncapher explained that the city was not going out of the business but that it was his intention to cut the costs to the lowest level in order to make the department at least self-sustaining without lowering its efficiency With this idea in view he said, he had taken three teams out of service and had extended the routes.

In his plans to reduce costs he said he had pressed the tractor formerly used to haul the trailers to the garbage disposal grounds west of the city, into service and it was now being used to haul two trailers over regular collection routes in addition to trips to the garbage disposal grounds. He also said the force of men had been reduced from 21 to 15 men The men who had been laid off, he explained however, were being given work temporary at least, in the maintenance department

The service director said he had learned on an inspection of Mansfield's garbage collection department, that one collection of garbage from over the entire city was made each week with but two trucks in the service Instead of weekly collections of rubbish, as is the custom here, the Mansfield department makes one collection every six weeks That there might be a change in the number of collections of rubbish here, was intimated by the service director

Studies Mansfield System

The city of Mansfield, the director said also requires the subscriber to the service, to pay for three months in advance.

COUNTY TREASURER DENIES CROOKEDNESS

Cuyahoga County Official Declares Self Innocent in Fund Shortage.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O, April 12—Alleged discrepancies amounting to $695 846.29 in the books of the Cuyahoga county treasurer, L. G. Collister, startled Cleveland political leaders today.

The deficit was reported last night in the findings of State Examiner James N. Main Collister declared himself innocent of any abuses of the treasury, and said the examiner possibly was in error through lack of familiarity with the procedure of this office.

Main said the deficit existed as of Dec. 18, 1931, and that it probably would be impossible to determine the present status of the accounts without temporarily closing the office for an additional audit

Of the total deficit, the examiners' report said $475,099.17 represented tax payments which Collister's office had received and for which there was money in the treasury or banks, but which he had not certified to the county auditor as having been paid.

But instead of this money appearing as a surplus, the examiner's report charged, part or all of it was used to make the treasurer's books balance with the auditor's records.

Additional items charged against Collister included $17,453 99 allegedly advanced or loaned to employes or others and recorded only by "white slips."

BOND SALE AT END

"Baby" Securities off Market After Today; $30,000,000 Sold.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12—"Baby" bonds," the anti-hoarding tonic administered by the treasury to a public afflicted with a tendency to hide money, will cease to be available after today.

The sales of these government securities, issued in small denominations to reach holder of small sums who feared to invest them in ordinary channels, are placed unofficially at about $30,000 000 They were first offered about a month ago.

IN CHILD HUNT

Upper photo is Dr. John F. Condon, lecturer at Fordham university, New York, whose negotiations through newspaper advertising under the name of "Jafsie" led to the meeting between Colonel Lindbergh and persons purporting to be the kidnapers of his child. The colonel paid $50,000 ransom on promise that the baby would be returned, but the kidnapers failed to keep their bargain. Lower photo is Al Reich, ex-prizefighter, who is said to have been a member of the Lindbergh party at the conference when the money was paid.

Prosecution Seeks Definitely To Fix Crime on Four Defendants.

WORD PICTURE PRESENTED

Witnesses Link Mrs. Fortescue and Three Navy Men with Abduction.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU April 12—Efforts to picture what happened behind the drawn blinds of the home of Mrs Granville Fortescue Jan 8 when Joseph Kahahawai was allegedly lynched were made by the prosecution today in the trial of the society woman and three navy men for the killing.

John C Kelley public prosecutor has produced witnesses who linked the defendants with the abduction of Kahahawai and with the motor car stopped by police while rushing toward Koko Head with the body which apparently was to have been thrown to the sharks So far as is publicly known the prosecution has no actual witnesses to the slaying of Kahahawai

Prosecutor's Statement

Kelley in his opening statement said:

Two officers went to the place after a shooting and found windows closed and blinds drawn They found a revolver he said, and a bullet lying on a table

A purse containing a photograph of Kahahawai a cap which had been worn by the victim, blood stains, a rope identical with that used to bind Kahahawai's sheet-enveloped body and evidence indicating the floor had been recently mopped were found in the house, Kelley said

Mrs Fortescue and the other defendants, Lieut. Thomas H Massie, Edward J Lord and Albert O. Jones, reacted in various ways to the words and actions of the territory's leading witnesses

Witness Points Out Jones

Edward Ulli a cousin of the dead man, pointed to Jones as the man who had handed Kahahawai the "warrant." Jones arose and stared unflinchingly at the witness. Ulli said Kahahawai had gone to the judiciary building to make his daily report pending retrial of a charge that he and four other men attacked Mrs Massie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue How the death car was spotted, stopped and disgorged of Kahahawai's body and its living cargo, Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and Lord, was told by George Von Arnswald, the arresting officer.

CUT GOVERNMENTAL COST, WHITE URGES

Tells Ohio Society That's Practical Way To Better Times.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 12—Gov. George White of Ohio urged curtailment of governmental expenses, last night, as a practical means of dealing with present disturbed economic conditions.

Addressing the monthly dinner of the Ohio society, the governor said, "increased taxes are not the remedy for current conditions Governmental expenses must come down.

"We need less partisanship, more common sense and cooperation in this emergency." he continued. "We have power and resources to recover. The real wealth of this country is its man-power, which is still sound, virile and capable of straight thinking. The cure of a democracy lies within the democracy."

ERUPTIONS SUBSIDING

Argentine, Chilean Natives Living in Fear of Disaster Since Sunday.

By The Associated Press

SANTIAGO, Chile April 12—Volcanic eruptions which had terrorized villages in the foothills of the Andes for two days appeared to be subsiding this morning The sun shone feebly from a sky only partially hidden by clouds of fine volcanic ash

The dust had stopped falling in Santiago, and over the rest of the wide zone affected yesterday, the fall was not so heavy Seismologists took advantage of the improving conditions to make an air survey of the volcanic area They said they believed the danger of violent eruptions or earthquakes was over, at least for the time being

Yesterday fears of hundreds of thousands of inhabitants of central Chile, and western Argentine were increased as earthquake shocks and ground settlings grew more frequent and darkness covered a wide area showered by dust from more than a dozen erupting Andean volcanoes

The area extended from Talca in the south to several miles north of Santiago, in Chile, and to the city of Mendoza in western Argentine Since Sunday Talca had been shaken a score of times by earthquakes reminiscent of the 1928 earthquake disaster

Two more volcanoes San Jose and Maipo, had joined the [illegible] group, both of them [illegible]

Prepare To Flee

Tentative preparations were made to evacuate the [illegible] inhabitants to Mendoza

Ashes lay more than 14 inches deep over some of the territory, and westerly winds showered the fine dust down in a fan-like belt, 800 miles across central South America. Martin Gil local meteorologist, expressed the opinion the current eruptions might be the forerunner of a world wide volcanic wave

He recalled the eruptions of Vesuvius, the San Francisco earthquake and the earthquake at Valparaiso, Chile, which followed each other closely in 1906

Breathing at some points was described as difficult

U. S. ARMS CUT PLAN ASSAILED BY TARDIEU

French Premier Scores Gibson Proposals at Geneva Conference.

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 12—Premier Andre Tardieu of France, representing his own government at the disarmament conference, today assailed the disarmament proposals advanced yesterday by Hugh S. Gibson, the American representative

Mr. Gibson proposed that tanks, big guns and gases be abolished in the interests of security, but he made no mention of battleships, "the most obvious aggressive weapon," said M. Tardieu.

Abolition of certain types of aggressive arms will not necessarily provide security, he said, but might on the contrary be disadvantageous to an invaded country. The only means to security, he declared, is common action against an aggressor.

This was generally accepted as a restatement of the French proposal for placing offensive forces at the disposal of the League of Nations.

In any case, the premier reminded the conference, this disarmament meeting is under the auspices of the League of Nations, and he suggested non-members of the league keep that in mind.

MARION CEMETERY IS 75 YEARS OLD

Association Observes Anniversary at Annual Meeting; Officers Are Reelected.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Marion Cemetery association was observed last night in the association's annual meeting in the Marion County bank building.

The association, one of the oldest in the country, was formed in 1857. The oldest cemetery association in United States is the Mt. Auburn Cemetery association in Boston, which is not yet 100 years old.

Officers were reelected last night. They are C. D. Schaffner, president; S. E. Barlow, vice president; H. J. Merchant, secretary and treasurer. H. A. True was elected trustee for a three year period. Other trustees are Ray King and C. C. Fisher.

Announcement was made of the recent opening of two new sections of ground in the rear of the Harding memorial for the reservation and purchase of lots Approximately 500 lots are available in the new sections.

The report of E. N. Sloan, superintendent, on work in the cemetery during the last year, and report of the treasurer showing the association's financial condition to be healthy were read.

Members of the association are E. Kennedy, Homer Waddell, Harry J. Merchant, J. G. Leffler, Henry A. True, Edmund Keller, C. N. Phillips, D. R. Crissinger, George H. Van Fleet, H. B. Hane, Ray R King, C C. Fisher, J. P. Probst George J. King, J. F. Dombaugh S. E. Barlow, C. D Schaffner, L. D. Zachman, C. W Kennedy and J. H Bartram.

300 WANT VACANT LOTS FOR GARDENS

Plea for Tracts Is Renewed as Only Few Are Offered in Project for Needy.

Although more than 300 unemployed men have signified that they are willing and anxious to turn vacant lots into gardens, in an effort to help solve their own employment and welfare problems, less than a dozen lots have been donated for this purpose.

This was made known today by W D Brown manager of the Marion chamber of commerce in an appeal to all citizens to help in the city's latest welfare effort.

If you have a vacant lot call 2277, the chamber of commerce office and donate the use of the lot for garden purposes this summer Mr Brown urged There are enough lots to meet the need if the owners only will [illegible] them for the next few months.

Seeds also are needed [illegible] virtually all of the men who have registered at the chamber offices for gardens have no money to buy seeds Organizations and individuals are urged by Mr Brown to make contributions to the seed fund Farmers are urged to share their surplus of seed potatoes sweet corn beans and other produce seeds

It is important Mr Brown pointed out, that lots be furnished the prospective gardeners at once. Many are ready to begin spading and otherwise preparing the lots for cultivation

"It's an emergency equal to that of the World war Mr Brown declared "Let's all help these men to gardens where they can keep themselves occupied and [illegible] their number of trips to the relief agencies," he urged

Detroit Leader Cites Moral Obligation To Aid War Veterans.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12—Against the united opposition of administration and Democratic leaders in congress advocates of a $2,400,000,000 cash payment of the soldiers' bonus today pressed their case before the house ways and means committee

Father Charles E Coughlin of Detroit, was introduced by Representative Patman Democrat, of Texas, sponsor of the measure

He said the Reconstruction Finance corporation was hurried through both the house and senate to make available $2,000,000,000 of public funds "for financing financiers and strengthening tottering railroads."

Coughlin said that within six weeks of the passage of the reconstruction act he received 1,500,000 letters saying

"If the government can pay $2,000,000,000 to the bankers and the railroads to whom it owes no obligations, why should it not pay $2,000,000,000 to the soldiers to whom it recognizes an obligation

"To pay this bonus will enable millions of one and part-time veterans to purchase some of the necessities of life he said, "That would put $[illegible] into channels of commerce and trade

"It will compel us to revalue the American dollar

"Revaluation of the dollar will come eventually either legally or revolutionary

"The Reconstruction Finance corporation has done little good.

"If we don't revalue the dollar legally remember Russia of 1917; remember the French revolution, remember our own revolution of 1775

The two chicken houses were destroyed, a greenhouse and a cottage damaged

REFUSES APPLICATION FOR ISSUE OF BONDS

Tax Commission Paves Way for Test Suit on Relief Law Validity.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O April 12 The question of the constitutionality of the bond section of the relief legislation passed by the recent extraordinary session of the general assembly was submitted to the state supreme court today when the Hamilton county commissioners asked for a writ of mandamus to compel the state tax commission to approve a relief bond issue of $1,000,000.

The action was begun after the tax commission today refused to approve the application of Hamilton county to issue $1,000,000 in bonds for relief purposes under provisions of the excise tax law passed by the recent special session of the Ohio general assembly

The refusal was on the ground that the law is unconstitutional, and opens the way for a friendly suit to be filed by Prosecutor Robert N. Gorman of Hamilton county to test the constitutionality of the act before the supreme court.

It is expected the suit will be filed immediately and rushed to the supreme court for an early decision.

The principal point in question is whether, under provisions of the law, the state lending its credit to political subdivisions which issue bonds under the law in anticipation of revenues provided by an additional 1 per cent excise tax against utilities.

The newly created state relief commission, as its first act after organization, approved the Hamilton county application and submitted it to the tax commission for action.

Split in Kidnap Gang Rumored; Report Estranged Member Received Money.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N J, April 12—A chic woman in a green town car became a quarry in the great Lindbergh kidnaping hunt today.

On the highways of many states, police sought her after a bakery proprietress in Greenwich, Conn, spotted a $20 bill she proffered in payment for a strawberry pie as part of the $50 000 ransom mulcted from Col Charles A. Lindbergh.

The hunt intensified when detectives recalled that a green sedan was seen near the Lindbergh home on Sourland mountain on the night of the kidnaping of Charles A Lindbergh, Jr., March 1.

This development, and a theory that the person who took Col. Lindbergh's $50 000 without returning the stolen child was an estranged member of the kidnap gang who no longer has the baby in his possession stirred the mystery to a new boiling point.

Expected Long Wait

Police, wise in the underworld's ways, had expected the swindler or swindlers of the flying colonel to wait months before trying to spend the cash obtained by a double-cross, but the Greenwich development, assuming the bakery owner got the number of the bill right, showed they had dared to throw discretion to the winds.

There was no indication as to whether the unknown woman actually was connected with the kidnaping or swindle, but the haste with which she fled when the number on the bill was pointed out roused suspicions

The proprietress, Mrs Ella Decornille, had pasted beside her counter a list of the numbers on the $50 000, as sent out by the United States treasurer A handsome middle aged woman drove up to her shop last night she said with a liveried chauffeur at the wheel and made a small purchase.

When she handed over the bill, Mrs Decornille mechanically glanced at its number It was K103387539A, the bakery woman said

"Why this is one of the Lindbergh bills,' she ejaculated

The woman tore it from her hand and sped away toward New York on the Boston post road. Police automatic telegrams clattered the alarm

Description Broadcast

"Woman is white" it said "Age 42 five feet, six inches Good looking Dark complexioned Wore string of green and silver beads around neck Gray felt hat Gray tweed coat. Brown dress."

No word from the kidnapers since the swindle has been received by Col Lindbergh, said Col. H Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, after a conference in New York with Col Henry Breck-

No Comment on Report Lindy Was Warned

By The Associated Press

NORFOLK, April 12—The Very Rev. Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, member of the Norfolk trio seeking the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, refused to comment today on a report that the negotiators were aware of a break among the kidnapers and that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh had been warned that trickery might be attempted.

Asked if the report was correct, the clergyman replied, "I wouldn't like to say. I can't discuss the matter at this time and any comment would be useless."

Both John Hughes Curtis, now away on a trip seeking further contact with the kidnapers, and Dean Dobson-Peacock apparently were deeply concerned when interviewed shortly after they had learned of the unsuccessful payment of ransom by Colonel Lindbergh. The negotiators, however, have refused to say whether or not the persons with whom they are dealing are the same as those to whom the ransom money was paid.

Persons who made quick trips to the mountains reported three feet of ashes in one pass. Farmers herded their cattle into sheltered places.

Captain Ralph Wooster, military attache of the American embassy made a two-hour flight over the area and said a dense pall of purple prevented him from flying nearer than 10 miles to the volcano.

He said he believed a string of many volcanoes, connected perhaps by underground lake of lava and fire, broke into activity simultaneously. He estimated the principal danger zone was 100 miles south of here.

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too."

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at Henney & Cooper or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

inridge, legal adviser of Lindbergh.

Dr. John F. Condon, aged educator described as the author of a series of cryptic newspaper advertisements signed "Jafsie" led to the thwarted negotiations for the baby's return, was believed to have attended the conference also.

The kidnaping case was to be laid before the Hunterdon county grand jury later today, Attorney General William A. Stevens said.

Dr. Condon was quoted as believing the "situation would adjust itself," but three Norfolk men who have been negotiating with a person they believe to be an agent for the kidnapers were represented as pessimistic, about the return of the baby by the person who took the $50,000. The Norfolk intermediaries are understood to have warned Col. Lindbergh they were dealing with the real abductors, and that the other person was a member of the gang who broke away and used his inside knowledge to make $50,000.

Cast Made of Footprints

According to the story told police headquarters in New York, the $50,000 was turned over by Dr. Condon after a series of meetings with a mysterious emissary, one of them near a cemetery. The New York Daily News says that after the baby failed to be returned, Col. Lindbergh and aides returned to the cemetery scene in the Bronx, and using surgical plaster, took casts of the emissary's footprints to aid in the hunt.

The Daily News says that the tokens given to Col. Lindbergh during the negotiations as proof that the baby really was in the possession of the persons demanding $50,000 were two safety pins such as had been used to pin the baby's blankets to its crib.

Dr. Condon, carrying two heavy suitcases and a satchel, made a mysterious trip away from his home in the Bronx yesterday, but refused to say where he had been.

Dr. Condon still expressed hope the agreement would be kept, and the baby returned. The police theory was that the child is still alive.

Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, one of the Norfolk intermediaries, said in that city he was increasingly optimistic that the negotiations in which he is helping would be successful.

DRIVES AUTO UP PLATFORM, FINED

Howard Shearer, 30, of 610 Irey avenue, paid a fine of $100 and costs in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge. His right to drive his automobile was revoked for six months by Municipal Judge W. R. Martin.

Shearer was arrested at 3 a. m. today after he had driven his automobile east on the platform from the Union station to the Leader street viaduct. The car was removed from the viaduct by service men from the McDaniel Motor Co., on west Center street.

pal court for the remainder of the year, was turned down by council. In a letter to Judge Martin the finance committee explained that the funds of the city were exhausted and that it would be impossible to add to the maintenance fund of any department.

Council also referred a communication from Service Director E. O. Uncapher regarding the replacing of a glass in the rear window of an automobile belonging to Dr. E. H. Morgan, which had been broken while stumps were being removed on south Main street, to the members of the finance committee and City Solicitor Carter Patton.

The service director in his communication said the accident had occurred when a chain being used in pulling the stump, broke and a piece of a link was thrown through the rear window of the car.

After thanking members of council for their stand in refusing to sanction the sale of the city garbage collection department, the Marion Central Labor union in another communication, filed a protest against the installation of traffic lights at the crossings of the Pennsylvania railroad in the city.

Lights Favored

The letter signed by Ralph K. Ruppart, as secretary of the body, asked that council take steps to prevent the removal of the crossing watchmen in favor of the lights. "We still feel that men are more effective than lights," the letter read.

The clerk of council was authorized to write to the labor body and explain the matter was out of their hands, having been taken out by the state utility commission last January when they refused to approve a plan for reducing the number of men on the crossings. The present plan will provide for lights at each of the five crossings of the railroad in the city and with the removal of three of the seven crossing watchmen now employed. Two representatives of the utility commission recently made an investigation of the situation and advised they would recommend installation of the lights.

An average degree of hardness of 11.6 points from March 30 to April 10, was shown in a report submitted to council by City Chemist Floyd Browne last night. On only one day of the seven did the degree of hardness go beyond the 12 points fixed by the franchise, on April 1, according to the report the hardness reached 12.1 points.

A bond of $50,000 submitted by the Fahey bank as a depository for city funds, was approved by council at its meeting last night making the third bank to qualify as depository. Bonds of the Marion County bank and the National City Bank & Trust Co., were approved by council at a previous meeting.

$695,554 IN TAXES PAID TO TREASURER

Payment Period Ends; Total Expected To Be $700,000.

Real estate taxes totaling $695,554 had been collected by County Treasurer R. G. Smallwood when the December tax collection period ended last night.

Yesterday's receipts were $17,231.84. Checks placed in the mail yesterday probably will swell the total to the $700,000 mark today, the treasurer said.

The amount collected probably will be certified to Auditor Earl E. Thomas Thursday for distribution among the various political subdivisions.

TRUSTEES, CLERKS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Dr. W. B. Gitteau of Toledo, editor of "Better Highways" magazine, and J. R. Thomas of Hayesville, president of the Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, will be the principal speakers at a meeting in the Meeker school tonight of the Marion County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks. New legislation affecting the duties of the trustees will be discussed.

Gives Car to Court in Payment of Fine

Clyde Scribner of R. F. D. No. 6 Marion who was fined $100 and costs and had his right to drive suspended for six months by Municipal Judge W. R. Maritn when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was released yesterday when he turned his automobile over to the court in payment of the fine. The car, a Plymouth sedan, will be sold by the municipal court on April 22.

M. E. CLASS DINNER ATTENDED BY 425

Epworth Group Ends Membership Contest with Program at Church.

Four hundred and twenty-five men, women and children attended the annual dinner for members of the Smart Sunday school class of Epworth M. E. church and their families, served last night at the church.

The program which followed was arranged by a team captained by F. M. Paschall, which was defeated in a recent attendance contest by a team captained by Jay Gelbaugh.

Walter Miley, president of the class, presided at the dinner. Earl Smart, for whom the class was named, gave a short talk. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ellis, costumed as a grandmother and grandfather, read the 23rd Psalm, offered prayer, and led the singing of "Abide With Me." Mrs. Frank Sifritt gave a short talk, which was followed by a tribute to mothers by Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor.

The men's chorus sang "Long, Long Ago" and "Star of a Summer Night." Negro spirituals were sung by a quartet composed of R. J. Williams, Harold Bradt, P. F. Callahan and Ray Acker, with Jay Vaughan acting as interlocutor, Mrs. Williams at the piano and Knox Dunlop directing.

Adam Bauer gave an illustrated history of the class, using picture of former presidents and teachers.

MUDDLED ROMANCE

Neighbors Fall in Love So Trade Is Made and All Are Happy.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 12—The Parrots and the Smiths were next door neighbors. Malcolm E. Parrott and Mrs. G. Minard Smith fell in love with each other and Mrs. Parrott and Mr. Smith also fell in love.

The women secured Mexican divorces and yesterday all four went to Sharon, Conn., and the women traded ex-husbands. To complete the story, each couple attended the other and then all left on a honeymoon together.

BACK IN JAIL CELL TO AWAIT HEARING

William Carter, 18, colored, charged with the murder of Green G. Miller at DeCliff last New Year's day, last night was removed from the City hospital to the county jail to await action of the grand jury May 2. Carter recently underwent an abdominal operation made necessary by an infection in the wound suffered in January when he exchanged revolver shots with a Newark grocer during an attempted holdup. His condition was reported to be good.

Returns Boy to Home.

Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast today prepared to return Robert Sheeter, 11, to his home in Columbus following his arrest here Sunday as a runaway. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sheeter of Columbus, according to word received from the juvenile courts there. Sheeter was apprehended by railroad detectives while loitering in railroad yards.

"Story Hour" Raided.

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 12—Police raided a children's story hour gathering today, rounding up an audience of youngsters from 10 to 12 years old who were listening to fairy tales and looking at pictures which the authorities said emanated from Moscow. Six Communists in charge of the program were arrested on a charge of disseminating treasonable propaganda.

SCHOOL PLANS UNCERTAIN

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., April 12—Voting not to vote, Toledo public school teachers yesterday decided they'd withhold group expression on teaching the tenth month of the school term, without pay, unless asked for such an expression by the school board. Because of depleted finances, the board had decided to cut the school term to nine months, but some teachers offered to teach the last month without pay and thus precipitated yesterday's action.

NEAR RIOT BREAKS UP LEGION MEETING

Greensboro, N. C., Post in Row Over Stevens' Stand on Bonus Payment.

By The Associated Press

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 12—A near riot during which guns were brandished, but not used, broke up the American Legion meeting last night when a friend of National Commander Henry L. Stevens took exception to the legionnaires' criticism of Stevens for his stand against cash bonus payments.

The friend, whose identity was not learned, was rushed by the legionnaires when he branded several of the evening's speakers "liars."

It was with difficulty that police restored order and escorted the man to safety. No arrests were made.

Prior to the meeting service men staged a parade through the business district, carrying banners demanding cash. At the courthouse the assembly heard Harold D. De Coe of Washington, national commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., junior vice commander, urge that pressure be brought to secure action by congress on the cash payment proposal. A resolution to this effect was adopted.

CALEDONIA CIRCLE PLANS BANQUET

Mother-Daughter Dinner To Be Held at Church May 9.

CALEDONIA, April 12—Plans were made for a mother-daughter banquet in Memorial M. E. church May 9 when Mrs. Helen Pommert and Mrs. Wave Garver entertained members of the Lend a Hand circle of King's Daughters at the church last night. Miss Margaret Kelley and Mrs. Opal Timson were named on the program committee. Other committees named were Mrs. Georganna Sickel, Mrs. Ruby Underwood, tables; Miss Maude Robertson, Mrs. Thelma Brocklesby, refreshments; Mrs. Nora Doyle, Mrs. Nell Williams, decorations; Mrs. Georganna Sickel, Mrs. Ruth Clark and Mrs. Mary Lyons to arrange for hostesses for the coming year.

Arrangements were made to attend the district convention in Bellefontaine, May 6. Following the business session the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Thelma Brocklesby and Mrs. Mary Lyon, program committee. Readings were contributed by Mrs. R. E. Stevens of Mt. Vernon and Miss Annabelle Pommert. Mrs. Paul Foreman won the contest. Twenty members were present and Miss Ferne Rinker, Miss Flornce Lyon, Annabelle, Stella Mae, Ruth Elinor Pommert, Jerry Timson and Rosalee Lyon were guests. Sweet peas centered the table at which lunch was served.

PROBABLE RELIEF PLAN INDICATED

Only Thrifty Communities Likely To Be Aided in Ohio.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUUS, O., April 12—Only the thrifty will benefit from the relief program enacted by the special legislative session, if private views of state relief commission members may be accepted to represent the convictions of the group.

This was indicated yesterday when members individually expressed determination to demand that cities counties and other political subdivisons authorized to seek relief under the program be able to show that they have pared operating expenses to the bone.

Liwekise informally, the commission took the stand that local taxing units must compose their own differences as to allocation of funds as between cities, county and townships before making application to the commission for approval of their programs.

Sentence Suspended.

Found guilty of a non-support charge filed in municipal court by his former wife, Mrs. Myrtle Keirns, L. E. Smothers, 41, of Lawrence avenue, was given a sentence of six months in the workhouse at Columbus by Municipal Judge W. R. Martin this morning. The sentence was suspended upon condition that Smothers pay $2 a week toward the support of his two minor children. Smothers was charged in the affidavit with having failed to contribute toward the support of the children since March 1 of last year.

Mail Carriers Meet.

A large contribution was voted for poor relief in the city at the meeting of the Mail Carriers branch last night in the Labor Union hall. The contribution was a voluntary move on the part of the members of the organization. The next meeting will be May 9.

FARM LOAN BLANKS ARE AVAILABLE HERE

Applications for Federal Aid Must Be on File in Washington by April 30.

Blanks on which Marion county farmers can make application for government seed loans are now available, it was announced today by James A. Deal, special district representative of the department of agriculture.

Application blanks may be obtained from Robert E. White, cashier of the National City Bank & Trust Co., William Wilson of Morral or D. C. Cope of the Richland pike, members of the seed loan committee in this county.

Loan applications must be in the hands of he department of agriculture at Washington by April 30, Deal said. Loans are made at an interest rate of five and a half per cent, only for crops that will mature by Nov. 30, 1932.

Several applications for loans were made yesterday, Deal said.

CREDITORS TO CALL FOR WAGE CHECKS

Because of a shortage of money with which to purchase stamps, local creditors who will receive checks from the quarterly distribution of wage assignment cases in municipal court, will have to call at the city hall for their checks, it was announced today by Miss Mary Kelleher, trustee in charge of the distribution.

Nearly 400 checks were required to distribute $1,023.75, Miss Kelleher said, and the court would not have the stamps to spare to send the checks through the mail. The amount to be distributed is the smallest since the plan was first adopted by the court several years ago.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, April 13.

RATHER adverse aspects are found among the lunar transits bearing rule on the affairs of this day. It is probable that there may be a sudden "break" in important matters, followed by disruption, commotion and change and possibly not of an entirely welcome nature, although there are prospects of advancement and of profit. But precaution against litigation, misunderstanding and trickery are enjoined.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of some turmoil, with sudden changes and disruption in the affairs; and while there may be unwelcome features there is also an opportunity for profit and advantage. But precaution in signing papers, against misunderstanding, treachery and litigation is enjoined. A child born on his day, while perhaps restless, changeable and adventurous, may find a groove in which it may attain fair advantages and success.

Notable Nativity: Frank W. Woolworth, president of Woolworth stores.

COURT NEWS

Set Up Claim

Ida C. King and Frank H. King, wife and brother respectively of W. M. King who recently made an assignment to Frank H. King for the benefit of his creditors, have asked Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court to allow their claims against the assignor's property.

Ida King sets up a cognovit note of $30,842.61 against the property, and Frank H. King asserts that $2,347.95 is due him on a similar note. Jacoby & Jacoby represents Frank King and Ida King.

Files Answer

Admission of certain statements in the petition of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. against directors of the Marion National bank and denial of others are contained in an answer of Harvey T. Gracely filed in common pleas court yesterday. Gracely admits that the guaranty contract whereby the directors guaranteed payment of the company's deposits up to $30,000, but enters a general denial to part of the petition for want of knowledge. He is represented by Attorney John H. Bartram.

Foreclosures Filed

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. filed two foreclosure suits in common pleas court yesterday seeking judgments totaling $28,500.

Judgment against Jesse P. Robinson and others for $17,500 and foreclosure of a mortgage on Salt Rock township property is sought in one action. The company asks that a receiver be appointed to manage the involved property.

Judgment against William H. Howard and others for $11,000 and foreclosure of a property on Bowling Green township property are sought in the second suit.

Judgment for taxes on the property paid by the company during the life of the mortgages is also sought in both actions. French Crow is counsel for the insurance company.

Transcript Filed

A transcript of the municipal court proceedings of Donald T. Johnstone against Harvey W. Zachman and A. E. Ridenour were filed on appeal in the common pleas court yesterday by the defendants.

Johnstone obtained judgment against the defendants for $117.80 in the municipal court for damages suffered in a collision of his automobile with Zachman's truck at Mt. Vernon avenue and Forest street May 9, 1931. A petition in appeal probably will be filed in the action shortly.

LOOK WHAT $3.83 BUYS TODAY!

Here, value hunters, is the news you've been waiting for. Here are the lowest prices ever offered for tires from the world's largest rubber company.

Look at them and ask yourself if it pays to nurse along those old, bald-treaded, risky tires, when prices like these will buy the safety of tough new rubber, clean-cut new treads and Supertwist carcass construction.

Look at them and remember — these prices buy Goodyears — world's first choice among all the tires on the market.

Look at them and ask yourself this easy question: "Why be satisfied with second-choice tires, when first-choice cost no more!"

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TOASTED ON TOP AND BOTTOM

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Bring Many Improvements

One of the new foods that is attracting attention is the improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. The new Kellogg Biscuit is cooked by a special "pressure process" that bakes in delightful flavor and retains the full food value of the whole wheat. At the same time, it makes the biscuit easier to digest.

Every biscuit is toasted a rich, golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. They are much crisper. And they come in a more economical, convenient size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl and there are 15 to the package.

"Because of "pressure-cooking," Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are unusually rich in food value. In fact, every package is certified by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia—which fact should be of special interest to mothers.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit and hot or cold milk or cream are a delicious well-balanced food for both children and grown-ups—rich in minerals and vitamins. A tasty treat for breakfast, lunch, children's suppers—any meal.

Grocers are displaying this new shredded biscuit. You can identify it by the name, Kellogg's, and the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"I'm sunk—see this terrible run. Can you lend me a pair?"

"Sorry—I don't carry extras now—

...since I've learned about ELASTICITY* my stockings simply wear and wear"

"A friend of mine who works for a large stocking company told me how to make my stockings wear.

"'Don't wash away the elasticity of the silk,' she said—'because then the stocking threads, instead of giving under strain, break. The least little pull, when you bend, stretch or fasten your garters, and you've got a run!'

"I know Lux is made to preserve elasticity. So I've been washing my stockings in Lux and now even my sheerest ones wear!"

The Lux Way to save the* ELASTICITY that makes stockings FIT and WEAR

Wash after EACH wearing. Perspiration left in the stocking or lingerie will actually rot the silk.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity of the silk, leaving it lifeless, apt to break into runs, ill-fitting. With Lux there's no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens and fades silk.

Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Don't use too-warm water—it fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux diamonds for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze through stockings, rinse.

LUX for stockings 2 minutes a day keeps them like new

For dishes, too
Many women use Lux in the DISHPAN to give their hands beauty care. Costs only 1¢ a day.

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET WITH FINDLAY MAN

Discuss Training Course Here at Meeting in Y. M. C. A.

A group of young people of Marion's churches, interested in the recreational leadership training course which Ernest T. Manchester of Findlay is anxious to bring to Marion, met with him last night at the Y. M. C. A.

The young people who met last night were given a demonstration of the course by Mr. Manchester. He demonstrated many of the games which he teaches in his course.

The topics to be discussed in the course are leadership qualifications, committee service, themes for special occasions, publicity, decorations, equipment, refreshments as a social activity and program building.

Mr. Manchester addressed a meeting of the Marion County Ministerial association a week ago and brought the course to them, stressing the importance of the church stepping in at this time with a plan of recreational leadership that will increase the influence of the Sunday school and young people's societies.

Those present last night were Misses Marydel Burchett, Clara Gillan, Mildred McKeever, Mary Cahill, Evanine Ebert, Viola Gibson and Constance Reinwald, "Bud" Ebert, Harold Hittenrauch, Felix Horn, Edward Melvin, Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd and son Walter and a committee, Miss Grace Koenig, Miss Freda Wintringham and James Richards.

All churches of the city have been invited to attend the courses, which will be held weekly. Information can be secured from members of the committee or the Y. M. C. A.

and 101 Republican delegates to the presidential nominating conventions at Chicago.

National interests centered on the Illinois Republican and Nebraska Democratic races. Of the 61 Republican delegates being selected in Illinois, a group of 15 Chicagoans were running definitely opposed to the renomination of President Hoover and on a prohibition repeal platform. Most of the down-state delegate candidates were believed to be pro-Hoover.

In Nebraska, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Speaker Garner and Governor Murray of Oklahoma fought it out for the preference vote in the first three-way contest of these candidates.

Nebraska Republicans also were selecting 17 delegates, probably for Hoover although unpledged.

Besides these two states, Kentucky Democrats in convention were choosing 26 delegates, already promised Roosevelt, and Florida and Missouri Republican conventions were naming 16 and 33 delegates, respectively.

SUIT FILED TO ENJOIN TAX ACTION

BUCYRUS, April 12—County Auditor Clarence M. Metzger and County Treasurer L. F. Waldbauer were named defendants in a suit filed in common pleas court today by Martin Seibel, administrator of the estate of George Rinsel, asking that the officials be enjoined from selling Rinsel property to satisfy a $1,200 assessment for alleged liquor traffic.

The petition sets forth that at no time was Rinsel engaged in the selling of liquor and that the tax was without authority. Attorney A. S. Leuthold filed the bill.

Hardin County Student Clears $1,799 on 4 School Projects

Special to The Star

KENTON, April 12—Profits of $1,779 on four farm projects completed by Ed Howe, agricultural student of Kenton, established a new state record. E. R. Tam, vocational agriculture instructor at Kenton High school, believes Howe garnered most of his profits from a coon raising project.

The youth raised and sold a total of 31 coons on his father's farm last year.

This ambitious youngster now a junior, was not content with a single project and took on three others—potatoes, tomatoes and raising baby beeves. One and one half acres of potatoes netted him $47.26. A similar acreage of tomatoes brought profits of $29.86, but his baby beeves set his profits back exactly $28.32. A steady drop in the market value of beeves fed with comparatively high priced grain caused the loss the boy's books showed.

Of 48 agricultural students who started 59 projects last year only 13 suffered losses, Tam reported. The majority of boys took up two or more projects most of those who suffered a loss on one project gained on another.

Robert Boroff made a profit of $457.99 on 25 acres of corn. Other outstanding projects profits were: Lewis Nichols, 300 baby chicks, $228.96; Richard Steiner, 150 apple and peach trees, $163.75; Allen Seiler, 10 acres of corn, $175.96; Walter Frye, one acre of onions, $266.84; Cel Bookmeyer, 25 breeding ewes, $90.46; Wayne Radcliffe, 500 baby chicks $185.90 and Ernest Sutermeister, 400 baby chicks, $179.37.

New Prescription Works Wonders Trial Supply Sent FREE

"For 6 years I suffered the terrible tortures of asthma, gasping, strangling, choking, coughing and wheezing. Tried everything, but only temporary relief.

"Then a new prescription came into my hands. It stopped all choking and gasping almost instantly. Within 24 hours I could lie down and sleep in comfort all night long. It was really astonishing how soon I got well and I haven't had one attack since. My recovery was so complete that I had no trouble getting a $10,000 life insurance policy. The doctor couldn't find a trace of asthma.

"If you suffer in a similar way this new prescription should quickly end your asthma tortures as it did mine. Try it. I will gladly send you a generous trial supply FREE. Write today to O. W. Dean, 432-C Dean Bldg., Benton Harbor, Mich."—Adv.

Daily Proverb—The ignorant are sufferers by their ignorance, as the blind are by their want of light.—Plato.

Governor White predicts that Ohio will go Democratic at next fall's election. If the governor really wishes to attract attention, he should predict that it will go Republican. It's part of his job to predict the other way.

The business of the rapid transit lines of New York City declined 4½ per cent. last year, the falling off in passenger fares having been 92,100,000. It's a cinch that the drop wasn't due to the increased use of the automobile last year, the explanation offered in preceding years.

Referring to the recent student disturbances at Columbia university, the New York Times stated that the campus was orderly, but later on made reference to the throwing of a few eggs. We take it that egg-throwing at Columbia is not classified as disorderly.

Plans for a new $4,500,000 home for the Metropolitan Opera company, to be located in the Rockefeller center, have been prepared and submitted to the Manhattan bureau of buildings. From this we take it that opera in New York is not so near being on its last legs as has recently been held out.

The United States supreme court has ruled that persons unlawfully bringing liquor into the United States are liable to prosecution under the tariff act, the punishments under which are more drastic than those provided in the liquor laws. The tariff act must be largely made up of teeth, and long and sharp ones, at that.

"Parley on Danube Ends in Reproaches," reads a headline over a London story telling how France blames Germany and Italy for its failure and they blame France, from which it may be seen that, commendable as the conference idea is, it doesn't always accomplish good, and sometimes works harm.

The Ohio state public utilities commission holds that it has the right to specify both the interstate and intrastate highways over which trucking companies may operate. Why should it not? Why should not the state have the right to decide what rights-of-way it will provide and maintain for the operation of private transportation lines?

On the ground that it set up an "efficiency expert czar" with "autocratic powers," Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt has vetoed the Hewitt civil service reclassification bill passed by the New York state general assembly. The governor probably figured that the situation is bad enough as it is without putting an efficiency expert with autocratic powers on the job.

Leaving her purse and a diamond ring on a dresser, a woman guest in a San Francisco hotel entered an adjoining room for a moment only to find, on her return, that the ring had disappeared. Then she recalled having seen a sea gull perched on a window sill of her room at the time she left it. To all intents and purposes, that woman was an accessory before the fact to the theft.

Smith Will Accept.

It shouldn't be necessary for Alfred E. Smith to make it any plainer to his doubting followers of 1928 that he still considers himself an active Democratic candidate for the nomination this year. In response to demands from friends in Connecticut and California concerning his willingness to accept the nomination and to have delegates instructed for him, he has spoken a booming and unequivocal "I will accept." That should settle it permanently.

A few days ago Senator Pittman, of Nevada, who officially notified Mr. Smith in 1928 of his nomination by the Democratic national convention, told the same friends of the happy warrior's candidacy that "they should no longer expect this great leader, who will always have a powerful influence in our party, further to contest when he is not a candidate for the nomination, and will make no campaign."

Senator Pittman spoke too soon, and without counsel, apparently. If one thing is more apparent than another, it is the fact that Mr. Smith, having overestimated the strength he could muster without going after delegates, is now determined to make a strong finish. He is not in the race to help any other candidate to win. He is there for the sake of Alfred E. Smith, who wanted very muh to be elected president of the United States in 1928, and still feels the same way about it. Now that the last lingering doubt around that point has been cleared away, Democrats should be able to put more politics and less hazy guessing into the important game they are playing.

Women and Prohibition.

The annual meeting of the Women's National Organization for Prohibition Reform, to be held in Washington, today and tomorrow, is a reminder of a significant change in woman's position relative to national prohibition. It is a change so complete, in fact, that it almost has ceased to attract attention.

However, back in 1912, when woman suffrage was in the suffragette stage, the president of the National Retail Liquor Dealers' association presented the following view, now strange, to the convention of the association:

"We need not fear the churches; . . . we need not fear the ministers; . . . we need not fear the Y. M. C. A.; . . . but, gentlemen, we need to fear the Woman's Christian Temperance union and the ballot in the hands of women; therefore, gentlemen, fight woman suffrage."

And fight it the gentlemen did, harder than any other group in the country. So close did the alliance between the suffragettes and the women temperance workers become that many outstanding personalities in the former group feared the consequences of defeat brought about by the organized liquor interests as much as did leaders in the latter.

The results have not substantiated early fears, however. Women did not get the vote in time to have any real effect on adoption of the Eighteenth amendment. And now, many of them having learned to disbelieve in the amendment's power to do what it was established to do, they are organizing and working to help the liquor interests regain some of their old-time power.

The real significance of the change lies in the changed conception of what women would do with the vote. In the years before 1920, it was feared they would vote as an independent bloc. Since 1920 it has been shown that they vote neither better nor worse than men. Their interests and opinions, as shown in the case of national prohibition, scarcely can be distinguished from those of their fathers, husbands and brothers.

Speaking about the burning up of money in the maintaining of unnecessary departments and bureaus, it's worth noting that the world's greatest office building, dedicated yesterday, is to be occupied by the department of commerce.

South Africa now lines up with Canada, Australia and New Zealand in urging the Irish Free State not to cut itself off from the British empire. If President de Valera has been looking for sympathy with his stand from the commonwealths of the empire, it should be apparent to him that he has another look coming.

Universal Identification.

Easy identification, such as is provided for in a bill prepared for introduction in congress by Representative William F. Brunner, of New York, would be a tremendous disadvantage to criminals. Still, there is solid opposition to the bill.

The American people are not ready for an extension of the system of identification so drastic that it would cause every man, woman and child in the United States to be registered, photographed and finger-printed. A check-up so thorough in its application would do a vast deal of good, but there are many objections, nevertheless.

It would mean creation of another bureaucratic unit of government. It would mean interference with personal liberty of the law-abiding as well as the law-violating. If a more complete system of identification is to be established it would better be done by local and state police. Last, but far from least, in this period when citizens are demanding curtailment of government payrolls, it would mean an addition to the personnel of the federal government and, simultaneously, greater centralization of the power of federal government at the expense of local and state government. It is unlikely that Representative Brunner's proposed bill ever will get to first base.

Signs of the Times.

Another of the relatively unimportant stories of the day which may be seized upon by commentators of the future as a significant sign of the times is announcement of incorporation papers having been granted the Ohio Alimony association. Its purpose is plain; it is a protective association of men determined to frustrate predatory women.

That such means should become necessary speaks volumes on a certain aspect of modern social relationships between the sexes. That such means to discourage a common practice have not been adopted before this speaks additional volumes on the curious easy-going tolerance that made alimony raids possible in the first place.

Properly used, alimony never has lacked social sanction. Increase in its improper use, to the degree of extortion, has subjected the proper uses to a dangerous strain. Unscrupulous lawyers, greedy women and a too tolerant judiciary have had their fun and now, assuming that similar associations will appear wherever a sufficient number of victoms are gathered together, they are going to pay dearly for their abuse of what is, in theory, a protective legal instrument.

Even so, it is a question whether or not their victims, though organized and protected, can effect any immediate reforms. For the present, and probably for a considerable portion of the future, it will be necessary to admit that the best defense against abuses of alimony is a more careful scrutiny of those who are admitted to its uses through marriage.

Russia is urging Germany to defy France in the matter of debts, which is thoroughly consistent with the bolshevik practice of causing discord and trouble at all times and in all lands whenever possible.

Prohibition Director Amos W. Woodcock told the senate appropriations committee yesterday that his forces' activities could be maintained with present efficiency "with a substantial cut in its budget." Then why hasn't the cut been made? That's the trouble with departments and bureaus, they expend public money as long as there is money at hand to expend.

Editorial Opinion.

HONESTY IN THE HOME.

Robert Dudley, who designs millinery, suspects that American wives are too susceptible to the opinions of their husbands. Talking to a New York reporter, he contrasted our American women with those of Paris. In Paris, a woman wears what pleases her, he said; in America she wears what her husband permits.

In other words, this bold fellow offers us the astounding opinion that American husbands pick out their wives' hats!

He bases his harsh notion on this: "It isn't unusual for a woman to report to me that her husband disapproved heartily of her new hat, but every other man who saw her in it declared it ravishing."

Now this statement will bear close scrutiny. Mr. Dudley overlooks the possibility that husbands are more generally frank with their wives (about their wives) than they are with other women. If Mrs. Smith asks her husband, "How do you like my new hat?" Mr. Smith can, and sometimes does, say "Rotten." But no other man can afford such honest speech. If Mrs. Smith asks Mr. Jones the same question, the amenities call for his saying, "It's lovely," although his real opinion may coincide exactly with that of Mr. Smith.

The brutal frankness of husbands and wives—toward each other—probably is one reason for Reno. But this shouldn't be so. It really is a blessing to know somebody with whom one can be perfectly honest. The trouble is that honesty is a two-edged sword. The husband who is honest about his wife is sometimes loath to apply the other edge of his honesty to himself. And so it often happens that the wife who bemoans her husband's neckties will not permit any insinuations concerning her own taste in choosing hats.—Worcester Telegram.

ON ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

If a candidate for a position as teacher in the New York schools says "turribly hoit," he or she is through right there. There are twenty-eight teachers of speech improvement attached to the school system, whose duties are to keep the English language from being turribly hoit. They had an annual dinner the other night, at which Dr. Walter L. Hervey of the school board of examiners told of the many aspirants for appointments as teachers who are barred because of such atrocities as the one mentioned.

These twenty-eight teachers of speech improvement are credited with having cured 3,004 pupils of stammering. Likely they have broken many times that number of saying cherse for choice. They are humble workers in the vineyard for whom sometime they may be erected a tablet of imperishable bronze.

One can not, of course, be shot for having been reared in Flatbush. Nor even for persisting in the diction for which that pleasant vicinity is probably no more to blame than many another. But its sloppy treatment is one of the greatest enemies of English speech.

Every great metropolitan district develops a locution of its own, weird in spots and identifying its user wherever he lifts his voice in converse. Conceivably, after a few generations the speech of a New Yorker might be unintelligible in San Francisco or New Orleans, or vice versa. Ours is a beautiful language, but as sometimes spoken it is a "turrible" thing.—Newark News.

"Crick" in the Back at Fifty.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A letter I received quite recently, said this: "I am a man fifty years of age and fear that the stiffness I have in my spine is a sign of approaching old age. My real fear, too, is that the slight trouble I have now may grow worse and make me a cripple. Can you reassure me?"

There is little need to worry over these symptoms. The doctors give the trouble described by this man a big name, but really it is bigger than the ailment deserves.

It is called "senescent arthritis." As the name indicates, it is regarded as one of the signs of advancing age. But of course a man of fifty is not old by any means, and I am glad to say he need not worry over his trouble.

It is not at all uncommon for the joints of the body to show the effects of the wear and tear of life. In view of the construction of the body it is really amazing that we do not more frequently discover the presence of many defective materials here and there. The strain caused by the many demands upon our tissues is sure to bring to light a weakening somewhere.

It is not uncommon to find a person well along in life who has what he calls a "crick" in his neck or in his knees. There is a creaking sound on movement of the joint and a sensation of grating.

It has been well said that "misery loves company." Anyhow, it is reassuring to know that the symptom described is very, very common. Its victim has much company. Let me quote this from a recent writer on the subject:

"In the joints of the lower spine of sixty to seventy per cent. of all persons aged more than fifty years, slight arthritic changes can be detected by means of the X-ray, although the vast majority of these people are not in the least aware of their condition."

Let me emphasize that the symptom is not important. One may be unduly sensitive to it, but it is encouraging to know there is nothing about it to worry over. There need be no fear that the trouble will spread, or that it will result in serious crippling.

The symptoms should serve as a warning that good living is important. The benefits of hygienic living and proper eating should not be neglected.

Some of the effects of age may be distressing to our minds, but most of them can be accepted philosophically because they are unimportant in themselves. We may not be able to live to the century, but by proper care of our bodies we can be pretty comfortable to the end.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

Mrs. R.M. Q.—What would cause the eyes to turn up—have a spell about once a week, lasting until I go to sleep? Have had medical attention without relief. It is a terrible feeling and I can not see while the spell lasts.

A.—This may be due to a nervous condition. Have your eyes examined by an eye specialist so that definite advice and treatment can be outlined. It would be impossible to make a more definite suggestion without examining your eyes.

Marie R.—Q.—How long would it take to eradicate freckles, using the preparation of lemon juice and peroxide to accomplish results?

A.—This would depend upon the individual circumstances. If the preparation is used faithfully and systematically there should be results within a short time.

Religions in Italy.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Rome, April 12—Americans celebrated in the Church of Santa Susanna the anniversary of the founding of the Society of St. Paul, the first religious society of priests established in the United States. It was founded in New York City seventy-five years ago by the Rev. Isaac Hecker, together with Fathers Hewitt, Walworth, Baker and Desbon.

The house connected with the ancient church of Santa Susanna, Rome, is the only one in Europe. In 1921, shortly before his death, Pope Benedict XV gave the church in charge of the Paulist Fathers. The late Cardinal Bonzano, formerly Apostolic Delegate to the United States, was appointed Titular. Cardinal Lepicier, superior general of the Servite Order, is the present titular. The rector is the Rev. Thomas Lantry O'Neill, for many years located at Newman hall, University of California.

Woe betide the man or woman in Italy who neglects to pay his club dues. By order of the Fascist Sports federation, the committee of every town or country club, after duly warning non-paying members that they must hand in their subscriptions, must send a list of the defaulters to the federation. This list is circulated among all the clubs in Italy with orders not to accept applications for membership from the offenders until they have paid up to their old clubs.

It has had a salutary effect on hardened offenders and club subscriptions are rolling in astonishingly.

Returns from last year's census have been published with regard to religion. One feature is that there are so few religious sects in Italy.

Of the population 41,969,963 have been baptized according to the rites of the Roman Catholic church. The lowest fraction of Protestants, Jews or atheists is to be found in the very conservative Island of Sardinia, where 999.6 persons out of every 1,000 are Roman Catholics.

In Lombardy, where the percentage is lowest, 996 out of a 1,000 are Roman Catholics. There are more Protestants of Italian birth in Piedmont than elsewhere, and the City of Turin has most of them. The Province of Piedmont has always been the stronghold of the Waldesians, who claim to be the eldest Protestant sect in the world.

The members of the Jewish faith number only 47,485 and are included in the total of non-Catholics. There are more Israelites in Venezia Giulia than elsewhere, Trieste having 18.9 per 1,000 of the total population. Naples has fewer of this faith than any other city in the country.

Ohio's First Land Survey.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Ohio has been in dispute as to all her boundary lines except that on the east; the line between Pennsylvania and her. That line was established and marked for Ohio in advance, as the result of the settlement of a dispute between Pennsylvania and Virginia. That was done in 1784, and the best astronomical and mathematical talent to be found in the colonies was employed in the work.

One member of the commission that ran and marked the line was Thomas Hutchins, who as national geographer, had charge of the surveying of the first federal lands in Ohio, the first seven ranges lying immediately west of the Ohio river and south of a due east-and-west line run from the north bank of the Ohio where it crosses the Pennsylvania line.

The surveyors of the Pennsylvania-Virginia line used a transit which being set on one hill—the timber being cut away on the summit, could be sighted to a hill in the rear and to one in front, when reversed. Most of the monuments placed were wooden, and these had mostly rotted away before surveyors working in western Pennsylvania sought the line for a base for their operations. The cut-away timber, however, enabled them to reestablish the boundary with sufficient accuracy for their purposes.

It was very fortunate that when the first surveyors of public lands in Ohio reported for work on this boundary line, they found themselves under the directions of a man who had taken part in the establishment of the boundary line twelve years before, and had a personal knowledge of the entire district. He planted his surveying instruments with complete assurance on the banks of the Ohio where this line crossed it and ran a line due west from it forty-two miles in length extending through what is now Columbiana and Carroll counties, from which to drop his range down to the lower Ohio. Each of the states were authorized to appoint a surveyor to work with Hutchins, but only nine reported for service. Among these were Rufus Putnam, Anselm Tupper, Joseph Buell and John Matthews, who were to be connected with the early history of the state.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, April 12—Superstitions of the theater are as pronounced as those among the voo-dooists of southern swamps. Performers will laugh—from the teeth out—at such frailty, but scarcely one ignores them. A dressing room whistler even wrinkles the brow of Otis Skinner.

All Barrymores dread a stray cat, and Mrs. Fiske was upset by a floral gift of lilies. Any number of musical comedy producers regard an effeminate chorus boy as an omen of good fortune. An owl is reputed to have found roost in the flies the night before the Iroquois holocaust.

William Rock was so flustered when a cross-eyed person sat in the front row that once in Chicago he skipped a performance. Many fortune-tellers are supported almost entirely by a stage clientele. Marshall P. Wilder traveled with a horse shoe to be nailed over his dressing-room door.

Beerbohm Tree, Bernhardt and Cyril Maude were most superstitious of all the international idols. Eddie Dowling and scores of others cross themselves in the wings before making first entrance of the evening, as an act of prayer, and not, as some suppose, superstition. The late Bert Savoy carried a two-dollar bill the day he was felled by a lightning bolt.

The most superstitious actor is the dialect comedian, Jack Pearl. He chuckles about it, but if some one touches his ear lobe he will chase until exhausted to return the touch. And nothing prevents him from picking up hairpins jokers often "plant" on the stage during a performance.

Charlie Chaplin never fails to "count" white horses with a wet thumb and palm pat. Tom Mix has never appeared in a film without his white gloves ribbed in black.

Raymond Hitchcock used one rabbit's hind leg for make-up purposes during his long stage career. George M. Cohan wears a faded green robe at his first nights. Lou Holz worried about returning home for a forgotten article on way to a premiere and the curtain stuck. William Gaxton carries a gold piece. And thus it thuses.

"Sugar Hill," that section of Edgecombe avenue populated by ebony swells of Harlem, has two residents who boast of butlers and uniformed chauffeurs. Sugar Hill supplants Strivers' row—so named "for those who strive"—as the bon ton area. Its apartments perch high on a cliff overlooking the Polo grounds.

The most distinguished hotel name in the world—Waldorf-Astoria—was sold for one dollar. The late Coleman Dupont transferred it to his friend, Lucius Boomer, before his passing. It was really a sentimental gift, the one dollar being a legal necessity.

I am told the elder J. P. Morgan once refused a visitor a loan. But he put on his hat and escorted him to the corner. Then he said, flourishing his hand toward several banks nearby: "Go to any of those fellows, they'll lend you now."

A raided speakeasy in the Fifties, in the manner of the wounded oyster mending its shell with a pearl, placards its entrance with this salty aphorism: "We are playing fair. Food only."

My infrequent—and purely professional—visits to speakeasies as civilization limps around the great curve to the highly-press-agented Utopia leave me emotionally bleak. I possess the very adult notion they are merely the stage for wild parties, second-rate philandering and futile love affairs.

In fact, in one place recently I sat in such tension on the edge of a chair, expecting every moment the crash of the raiding axe, that a tuxedoed house manager drifted over with a soothing: "It's O. K. Nobody will bother you." I think he was tempted to give me a red apple, a chuck under the chin and have one of the doormen take me back to the folks.

I hear much about who was the first crooner—Vallee or a Will Osborn. But little of the real originator, Benny Fields, who was crooning in Tierney's in Chicago sixteen years ago. And now croons to his wife, Blossom Seeley, in vaudeville.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, April 12—On the day that the veteran of the house—white-haired, kindly seventy-three-year-old Gilbert N. Haugen—broke all records for continuous service in the house at thirty-three years and twenty days he revealed how near he came to missing the distinction he enjoys today.

It was back in 1898 when Haugen, then thirty-nine and fresh from six years as treasurer of his home county and two terms in the Iowa legislature, went to the Fourth district Republican convention at New Hampton with aspirations to come to Washington.

There opposing him was Thomas Updegraff who had represented that district for four terms in the house, as well as another candidate by the name of Bland.

"In a three-cornered race," said Haugen, "almost anything can happen. This was no exception.

"The convention started balloting. They continued all day, through the night until 3 o'clock in the morning. By that time 365 ballots had been taken without a selection, so an adjournment was ordered.

"The next morning I went in to the convention confident. I was not to be disappointed. When the 366th ballot was counted, I had won and started on a congressional career that was to bring me seventeen successive re-elections, dean of the house and the champion 'house sitter' of all time."

It was typical of Haugen to say on the day he broke the house service record that he could do as much work on the farm now as he ever did.

Both in his public and private life agriculture has exerted at all times a profound influence on him.

At the age of nine he hired out to work for his brother to be paid as many dollars a month as he was old. This rate of pay continued until he was twelve, when he began the task of supporting himself and getting an education.

Before he was nineteen he had bought a farm of his own. Frugal habits had enabled him to save $50, and he lent this out at interest. This transaction impressed him with the possibilities of banking. So later he became one of the organizers of a banking company and has since served as president.

In congress, his activity has been marked by unceasing battles for the farmer and farm relief. He has devoted most of his attention to farm legislation.

The McNary-Haugen bill, containing the famed equalization fee, passed by congress twice and vetoed as many times by President Coolidge, is evidence of his abiding interest in this subject.

While chairman of the agricultural committee he sponsored much legislation relating to the farming industry, including, besides the farm relief bill, the packer control and stock yards act.

I want to go to him at ce." David answered directed a redcap to baggage. He kept his n hers, steadying her as through the station to tand. He put her into a t down beside her, tak- d and holding it tight fingers of her hand in ed convulsively.

we were angry with one when I went away! I said ngs, David. I'll never m. I told him I wasn't ack from Bridgewater, s all a mistake, a bad st as you'd said. You any right to say that to for me to remember, to Gar!" She dragged her hand from his hold, she leaned away from him, tears streaming down her face. "If he dies before I have a chance to tell him that I didn't mean that—"

"You can tell him. He isn't going to die." David retorted grimly.

"I failed him," Kitty added, miserably, "just when he needed me most."

David offered no comment. They rode in silence until the car turned into the drive of the hospital grounds. He touched Kitty's arm as she hurried ahead.

"There are some regulations you know."

To Kitty it seemed an endless interval of stupid questioning and answering before she was admitted to the room where Gar lay. Why, she was his wife!

David left her at the door of the room. She did not know it; she had forgotten his existence. She saw only Gar's dark head against the flat pillow of the hospital bed

"Gar!"

And then a tall figure came between her and Gar. She faced Mrs. Frew.

"You cannot disturb him now," Mrs Frew said in a low cold tone "Who let you in? You must go away."

Kitty stood, balked. For a moment she saw the older woman's face stripped of its mask; hatred, consuming jealousy, triumph was on it. She faltered before it, drew back a little uncertainly, frightened. And seeing that, Mrs Frew smiled.

"Kitty!" It was Gar, calling in a half-moan. Kitty pushed Mrs. Frew roughly out of her way. She dropped at the side of the bed, put her cheek against Gar's hand where it lay on the white sheet.

"Gar, darling. It's Kitty. I'm here."

"I thought you wouldn't come!" He drew a fretful sigh. His fingers moved, caught in her hair, feebly stroked it.

"I came as fast as I could, darling."

"You won't go, sweet? You won't go now?"

"No, Gar."

She heard a rustling of skirts whispering, a door closing and gave no heed.

"You mustn't let him talk, Mrs Frew," a competent, friendly voice said over her shoulder and she nodded her head. As if she didn't know that Gar must be kept very quiet!

When a doctor came in the room she rose to her feet and moved to the window but she did not take her eyes from Gar

"Doing very nicely," was the doctor's verdict. He looked at Kitty and smiled

"He'll get along fast, now that you're here."

It seemed to establish her right in the room. The nurse conceded it to her with a sympathetic look.

"We were pretty worried this time yesterday," she whispered to Kitty. "We didn't know, you see—You were out of town? He called for you, first minute he knew anything."

Kitty had gone to the bed again, knelt there, her hand holding Gar's. The nurse pushed a chair up to the bedside.

"You might as well be comfortable, Mrs. Frew. You can ring if you need me. That's the bell"

She tiptoed out of the room, leaving Kitty alone with Gar.

The room was very quiet except for the drip of the rain outside. Kitty relaxed in her chair. It seemed an eternity since that moment her father had turned from the telephone, calling her. "Winton wants you, Kitty." Sally had been there with her, and her mother. They'd been looking at the bridesmaid's dress, laughing, talking. And then: "Gar had been hurt in an automobile accident. Can you catch a train tonight?" David, talking. The hurry, the concerned faces of her father and mother, Phil saying he'd drive her over to Albany, and then the endless hours of the night, the torture of uncertainty.

"Oh, Gar!" She put her hands out to him in an expressive little gesture of longing.

Every word of that night's quarrel came back to her, to flay her. She'd goaded him to say things he didn't mean, she said things she didn't mean. They'd insulted one another, hurt one another. He'd flung himself out of the house and she'd locked the door of the bedroom. And the next day she'd gone to Bridgewater without seeing him

"The room next is empty, Mrs Frew. Why don't you take a nap? I'll call you when he wakens." The nurse had come in.

"I know how you feel," she went on, in her half whisper. "But he's all right and you don't want to be sick yourself. When he's better he's going to be awful fussy—his shoulder and ankle, you see."

Reluctantly Kitty yielded and let the nurse take her to the adjoining room. It was cool and white and quiet; though she thought she could not sleep, in a few minutes she was sleeping on the narrow bed.

She wakened, bewildered for a moment by her surroundings. She'd been dreaming of Sally. Why, tomorrow was Sally's wedding day! She must go to Bridgewater, talk to Sally about taking things so seriously

Then, fully aroused, she sprang out of bed, alarmed. That nurse should have called her! Perhaps Gar needed her. She rushed out into the corridor and there stopped short, facing Carol.

"Gar?" she asked frightened.

Carol shrugged her shoulders. "Oh, I guess he's all right, I don't know—" She was moving toward a door across from Gar's. Her manner said plainly that her presence here had nothing to do with Gar. She was carrying a long box of flowers in her arms

"I suppose you know Marge Crosby's gone?"

And with that she opened the door she sought and closed it softly behind her.

Paul Somerset—she'd gone in to him, of course. The brief lines she had read in the paper, crushed in her fingers, came back to Kitty. The exultation that had edged Carol's voice struck her with sickening meaning. Carol expected that she, too, must rejoice at Marge's going! The old fear assailed her as she opened Gar's door

The nurse was carefully putting a pillow under Gar's head and he was muttering crossly under her ministrations. But when he saw Kitty his face cleared.

"I told him it was a shame to wake you up, Mrs. Frew, you were sleeping so soundly. I peeked in. And he almost took my head off—"

"Can he talk now?"

"A little. But you mustn't let him get excited or move around. You see they haven't got his shoulder in a cast yet. Tomorrow, maybe. I tell him he's a lot luckier than that other poor fellow they brought in with him—"

But Kitty's arms had slipped around Gar; her face was against his. Neither of them heard what the nurse said, or cared. She went out

"Kitty, you haven't—told me—"

"I love you, Gar, and more tomorrow and more the next day—"

"Kitty, I didn't mean—the other night."

"I know, Gar. I know you didn't. I didn't either. I hate myself for what I said."

"I don't suppose it would make me any worse if you kissed me the way—"

She put her lips on his. Her closed eyes were against his. Their breathing was one

"Gee, Kit, what if it had knocked me out?"

"But it didn't. Just your shoulder and your ankle."

"What if I had never seen you again? Kit, you've got to believe me, all the time I never cared a hang for any one but you."

MILLIONS HELPED TO HEALTH BY ALL-BRAN

Has "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

In ten years, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has gained an increasing number of friends. Today, it is used by millions with satisfactory results.

New tests show added reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN. Laboratory experiments prove it has "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

Another benefit of ALL-BRAN is that it has twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

The headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from constipation can be overcome by this pleasant cereal. How much better than using habit-forming pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN action is gentle. Its "bulk" is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal, or use in cooking. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge, on the Eve of Her Big Party for the Arlens, Is Overjoyed at a Lovely Compliment from Dicky.

FOR a second or two after Edith Fairfax had uttered her peremptory request to see the decorations for our dinner dance, I was so hurt and furious that I had hard work to keep my face schooled to the smiling composure that the occasion demanded. So Dicky had consulted her about the decorations for our party, before he had said a word to me about them. I remembered another party of mine she had attended, and which she had almost spoiled for me by her meddlesomeness.

Unexpectedly Dicky himself saved the day, and I was meanly glad of the irritation in his voice, not patent to a stranger like Dr. Jim Paige, but perfectly plain to the Underwoods, to Edith and to me.

"Those wonderful decorations are locked up my dear girl, and can not be exhibited until we all go in together. We just finished giving them the once over, and they're all ready for turning on the switch that will spell 'surprise! Surprise!' to everybody."

Ede's Plan Fails

"But I'm not everybody," she persisted. "They're partly mine."

"Well, mother, you'd never know your chee-ild," Dicky paraphrased, with a grin. "Harry and Madge and Lil and I have all shared in bringing up that baby, with Harry the busiest tutor. You'll be surprised, all right, when you see the layout. So possess your soul in patience, little girl, and let Madge show you your room. Dr. Paige, you'll have to come over with Mr Underwood and me to the house of a neighbor. I fancy you've met him—Major Hugh Grantland."

"Oh, yes; I remember him well."

"He has taken pity on the men of our house party, and is going to entertain them over night. We'll dress over there, so as to leave this house for the feminine fripperies."

"Do you know, I think it would be a good idea for us all to get over there pretty soon," Harry Underwood struck in. Suppose I round up the younger generation and take them together, then you can bring over Brixton and Owen when they arrive."

"That's one by me, kid" Dicky said promptly, and I guessed that he knew Harry Underwood's reluctance to see much of the man who had been the intimate friend and business associate of Tom Morton, Lillian's first husband, who had cheated her so vilely.

"Then suppose you and Dr. Paige have a smoke on the veranda while I rout out the boys," said Harry.

"How about some food, Madge?" Dicky amended.

"Thank you, but we stopped and had a snack just a few minutes ago," Dr. Paige answered, and in another minute Harry was on his way to the rooms of the boys. Dicky and Dr. Jim were ensconced cozily on the veranda and Lillian and I were escorting Edith to Marion's room, which she was to have for the night.

Marion's things were already in my room, with her mother's. Lillian's room was to be given over to Mrs. Brixton, and Marion and Carolyn were to have the room in which Ronald and Bob were now packing their bags for their over-night stay at The Larches.

Lillian Analyzes the Situation

We stayed in Edith's room only long enough to see that she was comfortable, and when we left Lillian beckoned me into her own room, now ready for Mrs. Brixton's occupancy.

"Don't let that lady kid you or spoil your evening," she said in a low voice. "She had no more to do with those decorating plans than Katie. I can just hear her when Dicky told her you were going to sling a party. 'Oh! Where are you going to dance? Yes, that room lends itself beautifully to decoration. Let's see! How would this be, Dickybird?' Of course he had to be polite and listen to her, and probably tell her she had swell ideas or words to that effect. But don't you ever think he planned any decorations with her."

"She said he did," I answered feebly.

"In the words of the immortal Mrs. Ticer, 'She says more than her prayers, that one,'" Lillian retorted. "Snap out of it, lady. Lie down for an hour, then you'll have almost two hours for prettying before dinner time."

"The Brixtons are coming at six," I reminded her.

"What of it?" she countered. "Dicky will rush the men over to The Larches, and I'll take care of Helena. Go to sleep and get yourself in a frame of mind to enjoy your party, and if you let that dame in there spoil it—" She shook a taut fist in the direction of Edith. "I'll crown you."

"I won't," I promised and when I awakened from my nap I found myself in a mood joyous and excited enough to make easy the keeping of the pledge. Later, dressed and coiffed, as I stood in the lower hall with Lillian, Harry and Dicky to receive our guests, Dicky gave me just the fillip needed to make my enjoyment complete.

"This is just about the prettiest affair I've seen in a long time," he said for my ear alone, and then in a still lower key he murmured "And the prettiest article in it is ma chere femme. All the other women will look like selling platers beside you."

215,000 Expected To Watch Big Leagues Open Drives

SENIOR LOOP LOOKS FOR CLOSEST FIGHT IN SEVERAL YEARS

All Eight Members Have Strengthened Clubs; No Pushovers in Sight

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 12 — Eight National league baseball clubs with a little cooperation from the weather man, will swing into action today.

Some 120,000 persons were expected at the four opening games in New York, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

The opening schedule was:

Pittsburgh Pirates at St. Louis Cardinals.
Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati Reds.
Boston Braves at Brooklyn Dodgers.
Phillies at New York Giants.

All Are Stronger

Whatever the final result of the pennant drive that ends Sept. 25, the league looks forward now to one of the most interesting races in its long history. By trade and purchase, all eight clubs have strengthened weak spots, until it appears that not one can be used as a convenient stepping stone for such outstanding pennant contenders as the world champion Cardinals, the Giants or Cubs.

Except for the pitching staff, the Cardinals, Giants and Cubs start the season with only one change apiece in their lineups. The Cardinals will have Jimmy Collins in the outfield in place of Chick Hafey, sold to Cincinnati yesterday. The Giants will use Len Koenecke in left field at least when opposed by a right-handed pitcher; and the Cubs will play Stanley Hack at third base.

The Phillies' principal addition is Outfielder George Davis while the Braves count on Art Shires at first base and Fritz Knothe on third. The Pirates will present an unchanged lineup although their second baseman, Tony Piet, played only a few games last season.

Robins, Reds Improved

Brooklyn and Cincinnati present the greatest changes and it is these two clubs that may furnish most of the fireworks.

Brooklyn has added Hack Wilson to the outfield, Tony Cuccinello, Joe Stripp and George Kelly to the infield, Clyde Sukeforth to the backstopping department and Waite Hoyt to the pitching staff.

Cincinnati, which rounded out its infield by trading Benny Frey and Harvey Hendrick to the Cardinals for Hafey yesterday, will have such other newcomers as Babe Herman, Taylor Douhit, Andy High, Wally Gilbert and Ernest Lombardi.

Derbyists Work Out.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12—Workouts of Kentucky derby eligibles over the two local tracks yesterday gave the railbirds additional "dope" on which to base their predictions on the outcome of the $50,000 classic May 7. Despite the heavy going and chilly weather, there were quite a few candidates out on the oval. Among those clocked were: Delivered, mile in 1:47 3-5; Cathop, three-quarters in 1:19 1-5, and Barashkova, three-eights in :39.

CALVARY WATCHES FOR GOOD TWIRLER

One More Good Pitcher Would Make Team One of Strongest in S. S. Loop.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

Wanted: One pitcher of proven ability to aid Calvary Evangelical Sunday school in its quest for the No. 1 church league softball championship.

If some mound artist is hanging around the city without a job and is looking for a steady position he can answer the above ad of Manager William (Bill) Harruff and find himself in a full time position on the Calvary Evangelical softball nine. If Harruff finds someone who can hop onto the hillock and labor a complete game without being hammered all over the lot Calvary stands a good chance of clambering back upon the top perch of the league standings. The Blue and White combine was shoved off the pinnacle last season by the St. Mary's Irishmen, finishing in second place.

"Rube" Gruber Missing

"Rube" Gruber, regular starting pitcher of the last two seasons, is missing this year and this tosses the hurling burden on the shoulders of Lyle Messenger, last season's relief man. Messenger is scarcely capable of going the route when the hot weather comes around and would rather work at irregular intervals. Harruff will give Art Roof, a youngster up from the Intermediate league, a chance at the job but his inexperience is likely to keep him out of the first string job. However, he shows promise of developing and may provide the solution to Calvary's difficulty.

"Willie" Baldauf will be back at first after a year's absence and Bob Gibson, one of the better second basemen of the city, will again be at second. "Flash" Baldauf will be at short and this trio can hold its own in any league. Willie Baldauf is one of the heaviest hitters on the team as well as being a sterling fielder.

The absence of a star third baseman hindered Calvary's drive for the championship last season but with three men battling for the post this year there is every indication this post will be on a par with the rest of the club. The outstanding candidate is Harry "Hosey" Williams, who will be remembered as an infielder with the Erie Roundhouse nine. Besides Williams, Clingenpeel and Glauner, two untried rookies seek the hot corner guardianship. Both come here with good advance notices. If either is able to beat Williams out of a job the third base post will not offer Calvary any trouble.

Plenty of Catchers

The catching position has three aspirants in Cloyce Messenger, George Sorreles and "Rass" Young. Young caught last season but Messenger, unless he is in an outfield post, bids fair to take over the job this season.

If a third baseman is found so that Robbins does not have to work at an infield post the Calvary outfield will be the best in the city. Myron Gibson, Jerry Niemeyer and Robbins make up the outer patrol and what an outfield. All are "fence busters" at the plate and there's isn't a better fielding trio running around anywhere.

Calvary is fairly well situated in the matter of reserves although the second stringers cannot begin to match the ability of the regulars. The whole outcome of Calvary's battle depends on the finding of a pitcher. If one is unearthed somewhere, Calvary should be champion again this year. If not, Calvary still will be much in the running but not likely to come through for the flag.

Next team: Trinity Baptist.

FISTIC WARFARE TO BE REOPENED HERE AT SHOVEL THURSDAY

Jimmy Conarty Promoting All-Star Card; 34 Rounds on Program.

After a long absence from local arenas, fistic warfare will be resumed here Thursday night of this week as Jimmy Conarty promotes a 34 round card of nose battering at the Steam Shovel company gymnasium. Conarty has matched up 10 pugs to provide the entertainment for the first of what he expects to be a long series of ring battles. Johnny Gerry will referee the fights.

Lou Severo, who hails from Cleveland, will tackle Jimmy Martin, who claims Buffalo as his home town, in one of the two feature bouts, a 10 round affair. Larry Madge, another Clevelander, and Barney Stephens, a second lad from Buffalo will dole out the punches in the second feature battle, also a 10-round go. Severo and Martin will weigh in at the 138-pound mark while Madge and Stephens will tip the Fairbanks at 148.

Joe Pangello, the Galion boy who is a decided favorite around his own bailiwick for his hard punching and courageous battling will meet Ray Terry, a Marion fighter in the semi-final melee of six rounds duration. One hundred and forty pounds is their fighting weight.

Frankie Blue of Marion and Kid Kandell of Bucyrus will batter each other in one of the two four-round preliminaries. Billy Harry of Galion and K. O. Rinker of Bucyrus will meet in the other prelim.

Severo and Martin come to Marion with the reputation of being hard swinging youngsters who like to step in and slug it out and Madge and Stephens, the other headliners, are also reputed to be clever ringmen—able and willing to both give and take.

All of the principals in the feature bouts have good records. Madge has had 57 pro fights and has won 28 of them via the knockout route. Severo has had 69 battles and has lost only a dozen of them. Madge has fought such boys as Paul Pirrone, Jackie Pervis, "Tiger" Joe Randall and Billie Holt. He is booked for a fight with "King" Tut on April 27. Tut needs no introduction to ring fans.

Jimmy Martin has beaten such boys as Maxie Straub and Johnny Antler and is considered one of New York's best lightweights. Barney Stephens also has a good record of knockouts over some of the best boxers of his class.

The first fight is scheduled to commence at 8:30 p. m.

The real name of Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, is Merrill. His mother was a famous singer on the vaudeville stage 25 years ago. Her name was Anne Merrill.

TURK GRAPPLER IS TOSSED BY PODOLAK

Strong Man Proves Too Much for Suyleman Bey; Davis Gets Draw.

A strong man came to town last night and gave the pride of Turkey, Suyleman Bey, a thorough beating before an unusually large crowd at the Steam Shovel gym.

The stocky Walter Podolak took the match in straight falls, partly at the request of Marion's boxing commission, the unofficial big shots of wrestling, and partly as a result of his own strength.

Bey, sometimes called Moonlight by his few intimates, won the first fall in 14 minutes. But questionable tactics resulting in a general rumpus on the part of the boxing commission and a majority of the fans resulted in the fall being given to Podolak by the referee.

Podolak came back a wiser and better man. He began using Bey's shaved head as a handle for a lot of tossing around. It was one grand slam after another for seven minutes until the big shot of Turkey was battered to pieces. Podolak handled him like a sack of flour. It took 15 minutes to revive good ol' Suyleman.

Bob Montgomery, a newcomer from Huston, Tex., and Carl Davis battled 45 minutes to a draw. Davis won the first fall in 17 minutes with a slam and a body chancery. Montgomery roughed it up to win the third fall in 14 minutes. He literally knocked out Davis. Neither was able to get a fall in the remaining 14 minutes.

Larry Straub spotted Pete Dando about 50 pounds and won the preliminary match in 18 minutes with a leg split.

STOUT, EYMON MEET IN FEATURE CLASH

"Skinny" Stout and Slip Eymon will fight the feature battle of the Golden Ruled club boxing show to be presented at the club on Silver street Wednesday night. They will fight six rounds.

The rest of the card will be as follows: "Ding" Dall of Wooster vs. Frank Blue of Marion; Johnny Hostetter vs. John Isbric; Stevie Anderson vs. Johnny Kinsey; Monte Blue vs. Charles Caprino; Buck Williams vs. John Stout; Roy George vs. Arnold Gore and Joe Caprino vs. Louie Sprocco.

American Association To Start 31st Season Today

BULLETIN

The opening game between the Columbus Red Birds and Kansas City Blues was postponed today because of snow and cold. The teams will inaugurate the season at Neil park in Columbus Wednesday.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12—One of the most fertile proving grounds for major league material, the American Association, opens its thirty-first championship race today with a prospect of fair weather and a grand total crowd of around 37,000 at the four inaugural skirmishes.

The opening day schedule:

St. Paul at Louisville.
Milwaukee at Toledo.
Kansas City at Columbus.
Minneapolis at Indianapolis.

St. Paul, which galloped off with the flag by a margin of 14 games last season, entered the pennant drive as only a championship possibility. Their ranks raided of eight stars by the major leagues, the Saints presented a puzzle to the class AA league. A crowd of 10,000 was expected.

A like crowd was anticipated at Indianapolis to watch the Indians, the top-heavy favorites, start against Minneapolis. The Millers weren't sure of their batteries while the Indians also waited, with Campbell the probability.

Milwaukee, generally picked for fourth place, engaged Toledo in the third inaugural. Showers threatened although 9,000 were expected to turn out.

Bob Osborne was Kansas City's pitching selection for its opener against the title contending Columbus Red Birds, who planned to start Fowler on the mound. A crowd of 8,000 was forecast.

PATTERN 2318

Step-by-Step Instruction Diagrams Given With This Pattern

It's nothing at all to make, but [illegible] effective when finished. The [illegible] closing and the buttons [illegible]ally only two of the details [illegible] make the model smart. The [illegible] are just the right length, [illegible] pleat in front is just the [illegible] width, and for all practical purposes, there are no pleats in back. You'll like it in shantung, linen, pique, seersucker, gingham, dimity, lawn or wash silk—printed or plain.

Pattern 2318 is obtainable only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 44. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 36-inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Send for our current fashion catalog. This beautiful, colorful book offers 32 pages of chic, authentic Anne Adams styles for adults and children. The newest frocks for afternoon, evening and sports wear, exquisite lingerie, attractive house dresses and adorable kiddie models are featured—all personally chosen by Anne Adams and all fashionable, practical, easy and inexpensive to make. Price of catalog, 15 cents. Catalog and pattern together, 25 cents. Address all mail and orders to Marion Star, Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents. Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to the pattern department THE MARION STAR BUREAU, Pattern Fashion Syndicate, Inc., 243 West 17th St., New York City.

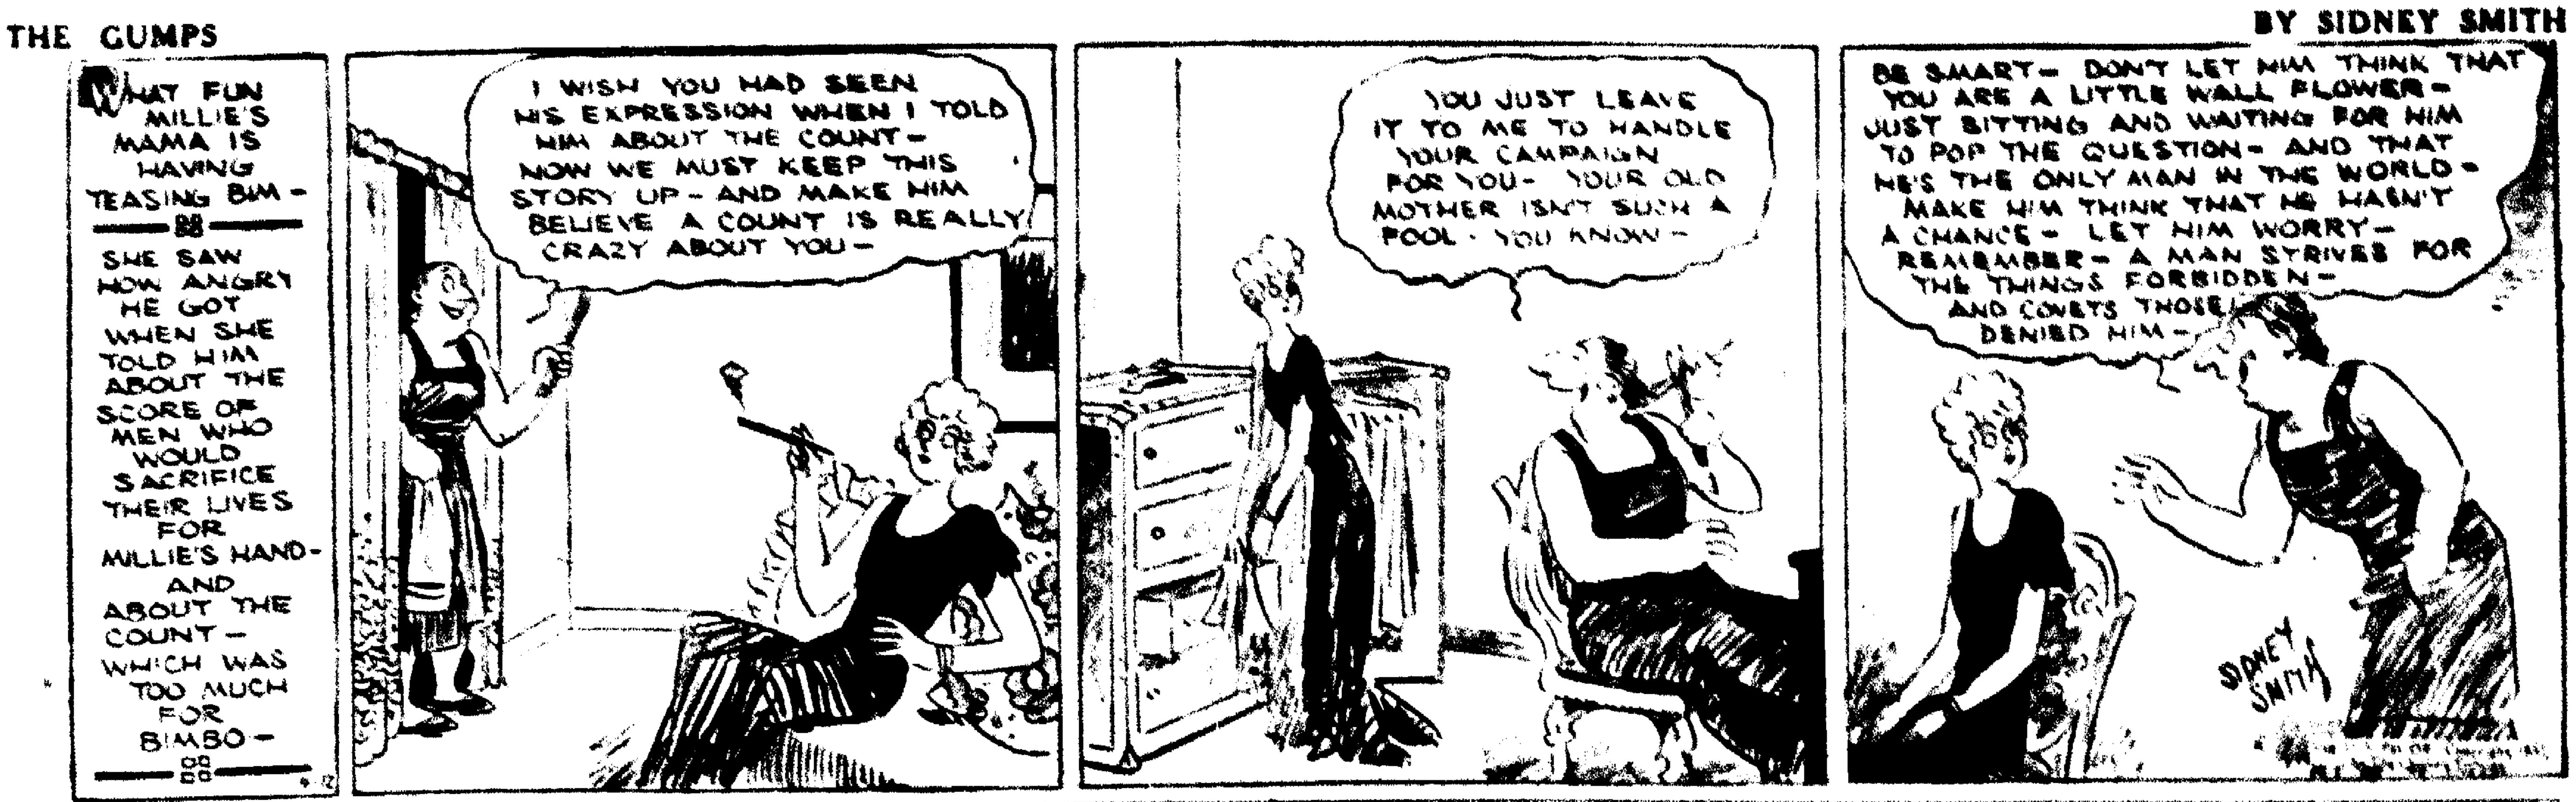
THE GUMPS

BY SIDNEY SMITH



WHAT FUN MILLIE'S MAMA IS HAVING TEASING BIM - SHE SAW HOW ANGRY HE GOT WHEN SHE TOLD HIM ABOUT THE SCORE OF MEN WHO WOULD SACRIFICE THEIR LIVES FOR MILLIE'S HAND - AND ABOUT THE COUNT - WHICH WAS TOO MUCH FOR BIMBO - 4-12
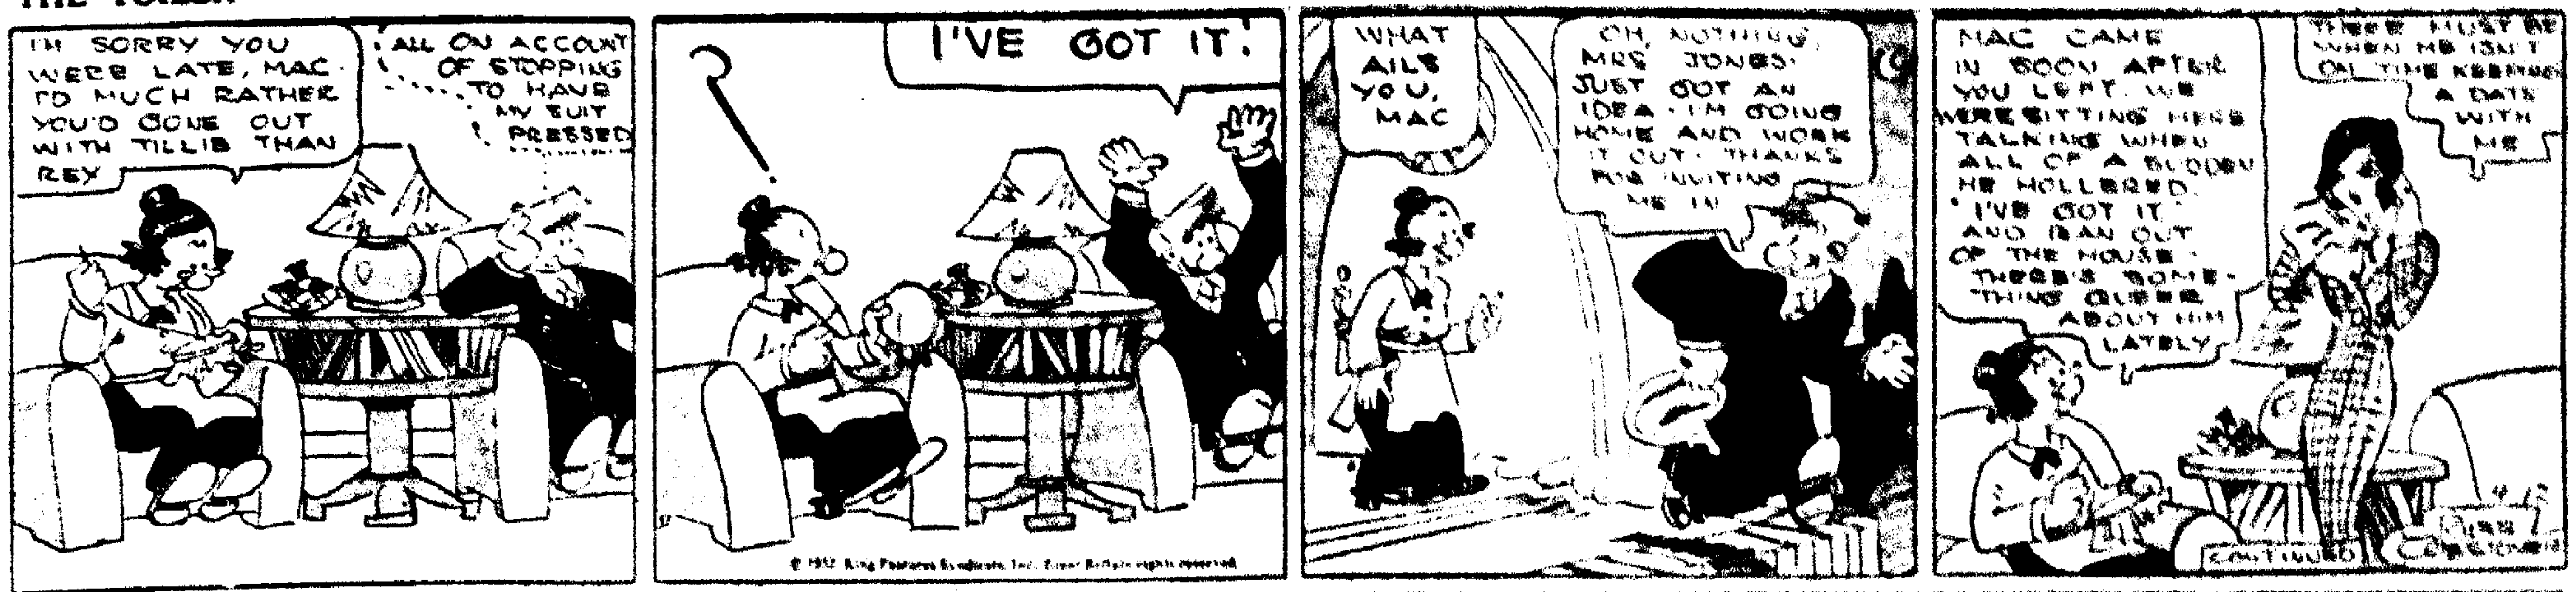
I WISH YOU HAD SEEN HIS EXPRESSION WHEN I TOLD HIM ABOUT THE COUNT - NOW WE MUST KEEP THIS STORY UP - AND MAKE HIM BELIEVE A COUNT IS REALLY CRAZY ABOUT YOU -
YOU JUST LEAVE IT TO ME TO HANDLE YOUR CAMPAIGN FOR YOU - YOUR OLD MOTHER ISN'T SUCH A FOOL - YOU KNOW -
BE SMART - DON'T LET HIM THINK THAT YOU ARE A LITTLE WALL FLOWER - JUST SITTING AND WAITING FOR HIM TO POP THE QUESTION - AND THAT HE'S THE ONLY MAN IN THE WORLD - MAKE HIM THINK THAT HE HASN'T A CHANCE - LET HIM WORRY - REMEMBER - A MAN STRIVES FOR THE THINGS FORBIDDEN - AND COVETS THOSE DENIED HIM -
SIDNEY SMITH

TILLIE THE TOILER

BY RUSS WESTOVER



I'M SORRY YOU WERE LATE, MAC. I'D MUCH RATHER YOU'D GONE OUT WITH TILLIE THAN REX
ALL ON ACCOUNT OF STOPPING TO HAVE MY SUIT PRESSED
I'VE GOT IT!

WHAT AILS YOU, MAC
OH, NOTHING, MRS. JONES: JUST GOT AN IDEA - I'M GOING HOME AND WORK IT OUT - THANKS FOR INVITING ME IN
MAC CAME IN SOON AFTER YOU LEFT. WE WERE SITTING HERE TALKING WHEN ALL OF A SUDDEN HE HOLLERED, "I'VE GOT IT" AND RAN OUT OF THE HOUSE - THERE'S SOMETHING QUEER ABOUT HIM LATELY
THERE MUST BE - WHEN HE ISN'T ON TIME KEEPING A DATE WITH ME

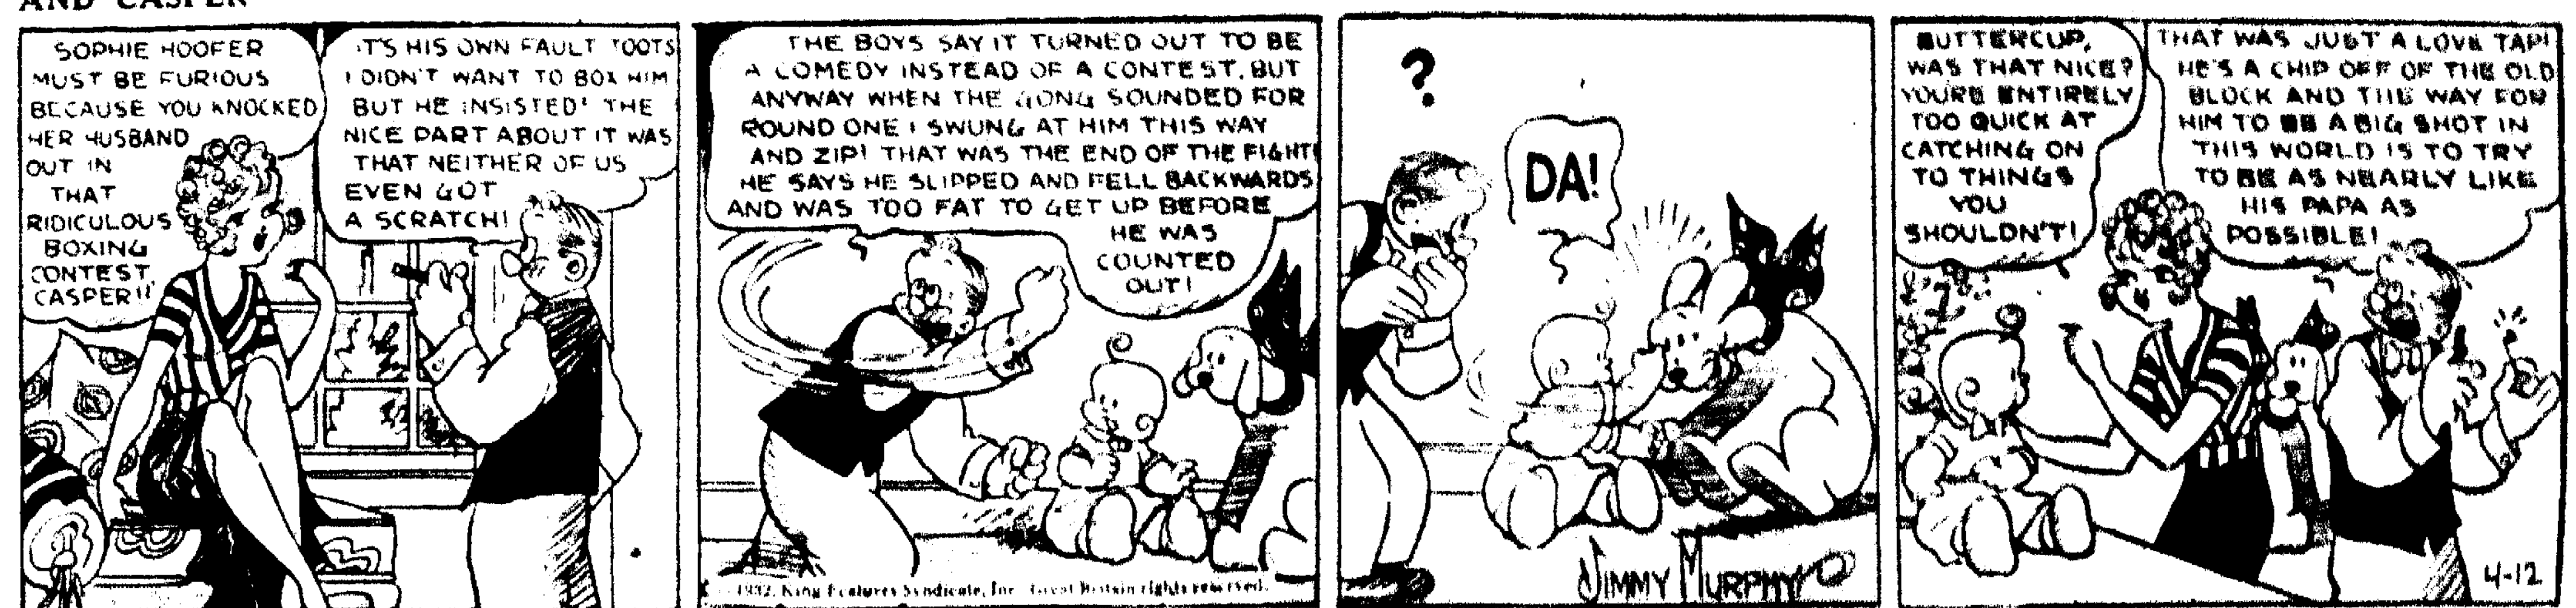
TOOTS AND CASPER

BY JIMMY MURPHY



SOPHIE HOOFER MUST BE FURIOUS BECAUSE YOU KNOCKED HER HUSBAND OUT IN THAT RIDICULOUS BOXING CONTEST, CASPER!!
IT'S HIS OWN FAULT TOOTS I DIDN'T WANT TO BOX HIM BUT HE INSISTED! THE NICE PART ABOUT IT WAS THAT NEITHER OF US EVEN GOT A SCRATCH!
THE BOYS SAY IT TURNED OUT TO BE A COMEDY INSTEAD OF A CONTEST, BUT ANYWAY WHEN THE GONG SOUNDED FOR ROUND ONE I SWUNG AT HIM THIS WAY AND ZIP! THAT WAS THE END OF THE FIGHT! HE SAYS HE SLIPPED AND FELL BACKWARDS AND WAS TOO FAT TO GET UP BEFORE HE WAS COUNTED OUT!

DA!
JIMMY MURPHY
BUTTERCUP, WAS THAT NICE? YOU'RE ENTIRELY TOO QUICK AT CATCHING ON TO THINGS YOU SHOULDN'T!
THAT WAS JUST A LOVE TAP! HE'S A CHIP OFF OF THE OLD BLOCK AND THE WAY FOR HIM TO BE A BIG SHOT IN THIS WORLD IS TO TRY TO BE AS NEARLY LIKE HIS PAPA AS POSSIBLE!

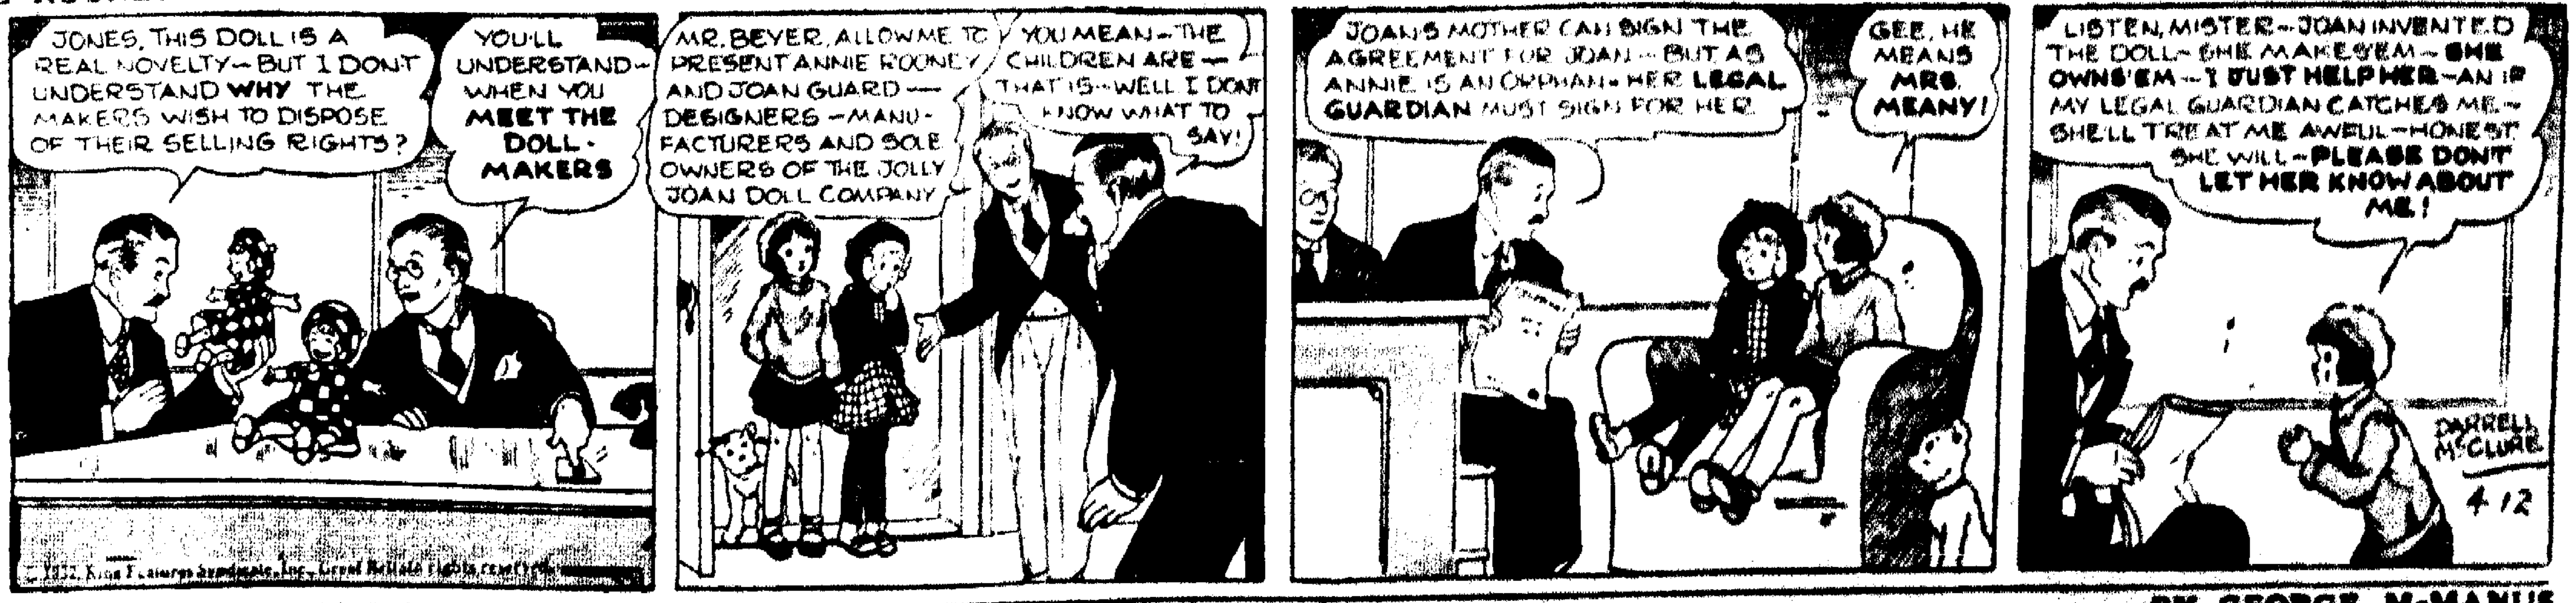
ANNIE ROONEY

BY DARREL McCLURE



JONES, THIS DOLL IS A REAL NOVELTY - BUT I DON'T UNDERSTAND WHY THE MAKERS WISH TO DISPOSE OF THEIR SELLING RIGHTS?
YOU'LL UNDERSTAND - WHEN YOU MEET THE DOLL-MAKERS
© 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.
MR. BEYER, ALLOW ME TO PRESENT ANNIE ROONEY AND JOAN GUARD - DESIGNERS - MANUFACTURERS AND SOLE OWNERS OF THE JOLLY JOAN DOLL COMPANY
YOU MEAN - THE CHILDREN ARE - THAT IS - WELL I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY!
JOAN'S MOTHER CAN SIGN THE AGREEMENT FOR JOAN - BUT AS ANNIE IS AN ORPHAN - HER LEGAL GUARDIAN MUST SIGN FOR HER.
GEE, HE MEANS MRS. MEANY!
LISTEN, MISTER - JOAN INVENTED THE DOLL - SHE MAKES 'EM - SHE OWNS 'EM - I JUST HELP HER - AN IF MY LEGAL GUARDIAN CATCHES ME - SHE'LL TREAT ME AWFUL - HONEST SHE WILL - PLEASE DON'T LET HER KNOW ABOUT ME!

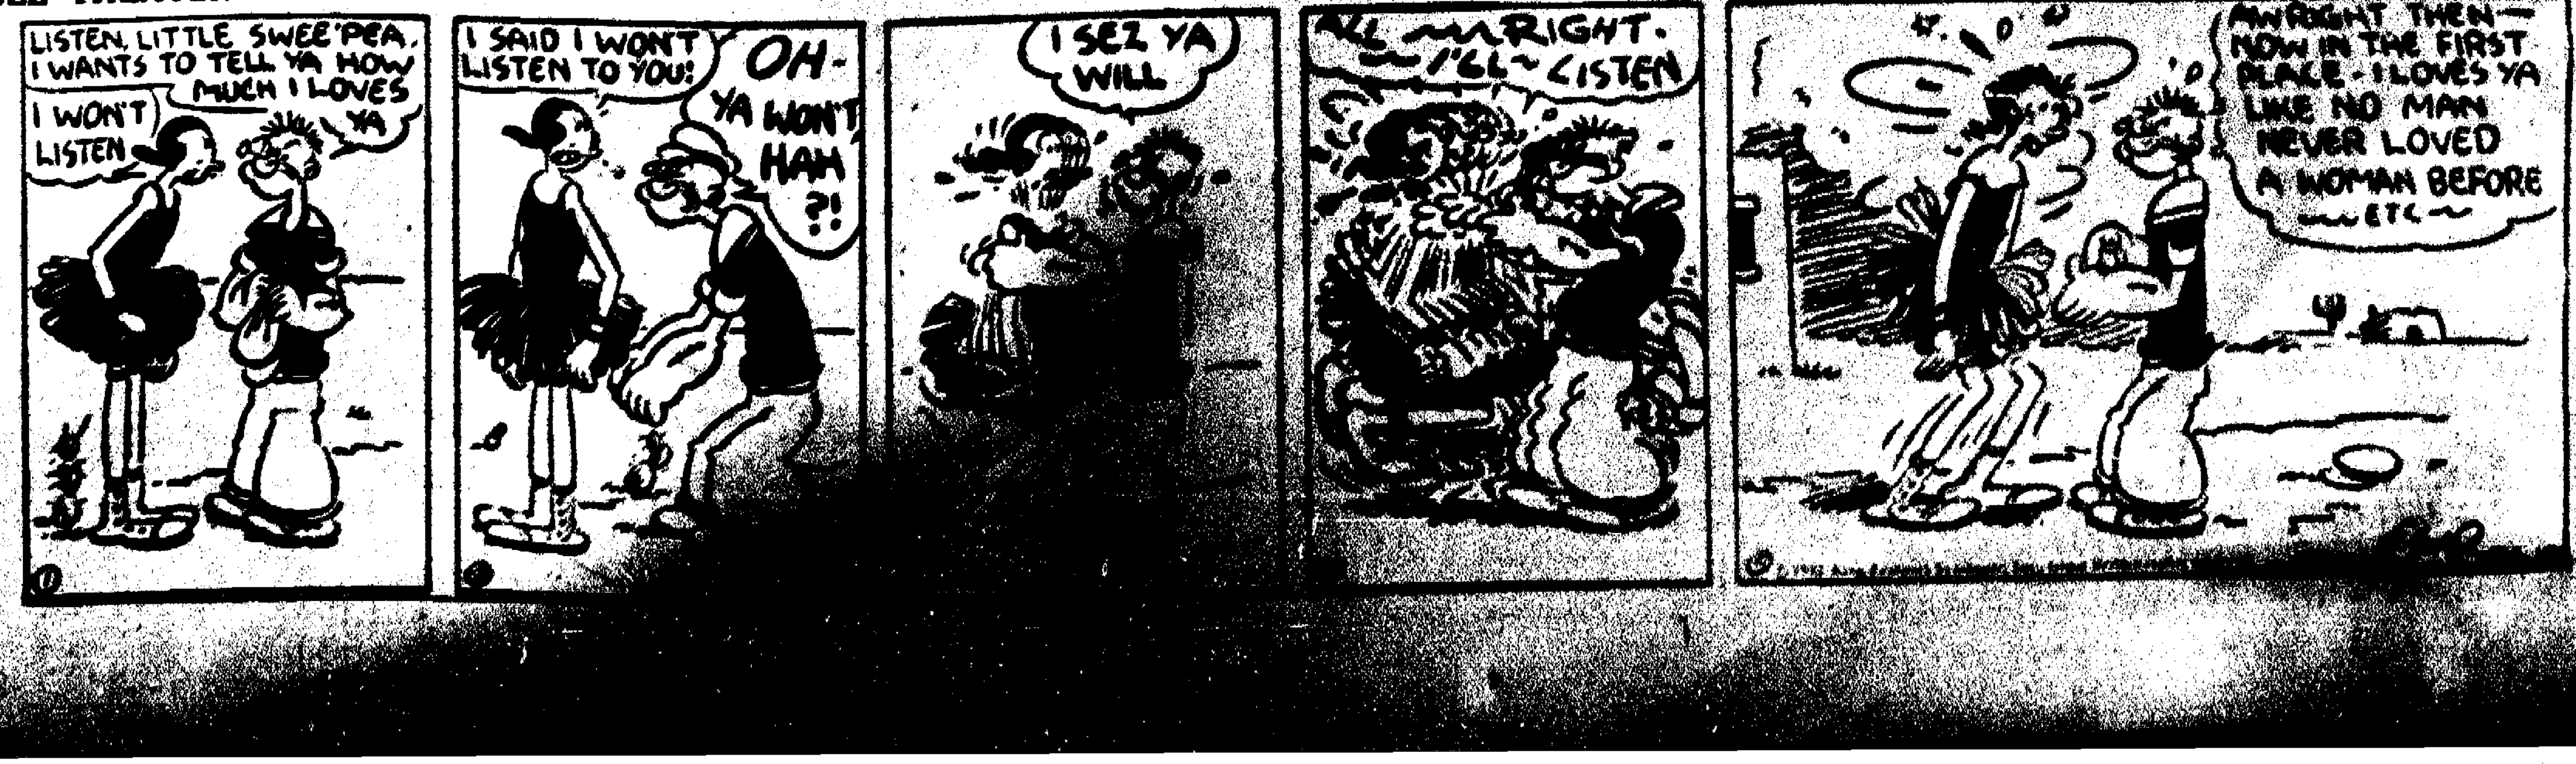
THIMBLE THEATER

BY SEGAR



LISTEN, LITTLE SWEE'PEA, I WANTS TO TELL YA HOW MUCH I LOVES YA
I WON'T LISTEN
I SAID I WON'T LISTEN TO YOU!
OH - YA WON'T HAH ?!
I SEZ YA WILL
ALL - RIGHT - I'LL - LISTEN
AWRIGHT THEN - NOW IN THE FIRST PLACE - I LOVES YA LIKE NO MAN NEVER LOVED A WOMAN BEFORE - ETC -

STOCKS SLUMP AFTER RALLY

Board Issues To Be Deflected from Downward Trend.

By The Associated Press

YORK, April 12 — The market again refused to be [illegible] from its downward trend although selling showed abating.

[illegible] with vague rumors of [illegible] developments impending Washington, the list rallied [illegible] in the morning, but downward before midday. [illegible] showed marked heaviness. Fe was again a soft spot, about 4 points, while about 2 to 3 appeared Pacific, New York Central, Southern Pacific, and Atlantic Line. Santa Fe had [illegible] day with a temporary [illegible] 2. Despite the firmer [illegible] in Petroleum, Standard of N. J. was persistently offered, and lost about 2 points, coincident with rumors that the annual report would show 1931 earnings of less than $1.40 a share. Several of the leading utilities and industrials held up better than recently. Early advances of a point or two in U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Telephone and American Can were lost, but these issues sagged but slightly under yesterday's final prices.

It was suggested in some quarters that the fresh selling may have been in part a response to the figures on the short position disclosed in Washington by President Whitney of the exchange. These figures indicated a moderate shrinkage in the number of shares in short accounts during the first week of April, despite the decline in prices. This, theoretically at last, indicated that the cushion of potential buying by the shorts had been reduced, thus weakening the market's technical position.

DROUTH SENDS GRAINS HIGHER

Prices Score Material Advance as Crops Are Seriously Affected.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12 — With drouth unabated, grain prices made a material new advance early today. One report from Dodge City, Kas., said that in a wide circle from Guyman, Okla., there was barely 40 per cent of a wheat stand, and that in a stretch of 50 miles scarcely a single field promised to be harvested. Opening ⅛ off to ⅜ up, wheat afterward rose all around. Corn started unchanged to ⅛ off and subsequently advanced.

Rainless skies southwest and west indicating further losses of domestic winter wheat, were more than offset for relative weakness of the Liverpool market. Bullish sentiment here was further strengthened, too, by emphasis on delays to United States spring wheat seeding, implying likelihood that crop maturity would be carried into a time of menace from excessive heat and dry weather. Notice was also taken of advices from India that wheat yields in the Punjab were estimated at 10,000,000 bushels less than at this time last year.

After a rise of about 1 cent a bushel, however, reactions took the wheat market back to around yesterday's finish. The sag was ascribed largely to profit taking on the part of recent buyers. It was pointed out that the market had risen 7 cents in the last few days, and that setbacks under such circumstances were natural. Corn and oats chiefly responded to the action of wheat.

Provisions were easy, influenced by downturns of the hog market.

Board Will Determine Length of School Term

Await Final Results of December Tax Collection, Which Closed Today, Indicate It May Be Necessary To End Period Two Weeks Early.

Whether a full 36-week of school will be rounded out this year probably will be settled yet this week, school authorities indicated last night in a meeting of the city board of education.

When the final yield of the December tax collection period, which ended last night, has been made known, school authorities will have a fairly definite basis on which to plan the program for the remainder of the term, they pointed out.

The many-sided financial situation which has made the length of the term a moot question appears to make a deficit inevitable if the 36-week term is completed, school officials said. However, it seems reasonably sure that it will not be necessary to cut the term more than two weeks, if at all, to effect sufficient savings to end the term with the books approximately balanced, they said.

Would Save $16,000

By lopping two weeks from the end of the term, the board could save approximately $16,000, Supt. G. A. Bowman explained.

Continuing its program of rigid economy, the board eliminated a regular item from the cost of school operation by declining to make any special provision for the annual May enumeration of students. Formerly, the board employed six persons to make the enumeration, at a cost of approximately $300. Because of the shortage of funds, this expense will be omitted, the board decided. The enumeration probably will be taken by the school organization with principals and teachers cooperating.

Bonds Approved

The enumeration has a dual purpose of providing information for school statistics, and of accounting for all children of school age in the city, either by their enrollment recorded in the enumeration or by work certificates.

The board has approved depository bonds furnished by the Marion County and Fahey banks and the National City Bank & Trust Co. Personal bonds of the directors were accepted to qualify the institutions to serve as depositories for school funds during the ensuing two years. All three were named depositories recently after the board had taken bids. The banks will pay two per cent interest for active and inactive school funds.

MRS. SMITH TAKES OVER SENIOR PLAY

Will Substitute for Miss Foreman, Hurt in Crash.

The direction of the Harding High school senior class play, "The Royal Family," has been given to Mrs. Kenneth D. Smith of Elmwood drive. Miss Lucile Foreman of east Church street, coach of dramatics at the high school will be unable to direct the play this year, because of injuries which she suffered in an automobile accident Saturday and which will confine her to University hospital for several weeks.

Miss Foreman had practically completed the first act of the play, Mrs. Smith said yesterday. Mrs. Smith took special work in dramatics at Ohio Wesleyan university. She will substitute for Miss Foreman in her journalism and American literature classes.

JUVENILE JUDGE IS CLUB SPEAKER

Gast Talks on Experiences Before Y's Men.

Interesting cases handled in his court were discussed last night by Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast in a talk to members of the Y's Men's service club in the Y. M. C. A.

The various methods used by the court in an effort to iron out the difficulties and weaknesses in wards of the court were discussed in detail by the judge. These cases included boys and girls who have been given a fresh start in life through the influence of the court, and the persistent type of delinquent who continually steals and commits other offensive acts in spite of training and new opportunities.

The club next Monday night will hold a "ladies" party in the Knights of Pythias hall. Dancing, games and other entertainment have been arranged.

VOTERS WILL PICK ONE STATE REPRESENTATIVE

EDWARD F. LAUER

HARRY A. HOOPES

* * *

In this, the fifth of a series of articles concerning candidates for various county offices whose names will be found on the ballot at the May 10 primary, the candidates for representative in the state legislature are introduced.

The word "economy" appears in the campaign platforms of all of Marion county's three candidates for representative in the state legislature

The three-cornered representative race finds Edward F. Lauer of Prospect, Democratic incumbent, unopposed in the primary while M. J. Morral of Marion R. F. D. No. 4 and Dr. Harry A. Hoopes of LaRue vie for the nomination as the Republican candidate to oppose Lauer.

All three are farmers, two of them having other occupations besides.

Lauer is 44, married, and is the father of two sons. He lists his occupation as a salesman and farmer. He is now rounding out his first term as representative, and is a former mayor and councilman of Prospect.

"More wholesome, equitable, economical government" is his campaign pledge.

Morral is a Grand Prairie township farmer, is married and is the father of one child. For two terms he was a commissioner of Marion county. His platform pledge is "strict economy in expenditures and a reduction of taxes." He also expresses his favor of a bill reducing salaries of all state and county officials.

M. J. MORRAL

Dr. Hoopes is a veterinarian and farmer residing north of LaRue. He is married and is the father of one daughter. Formerly he was a township trustee.

He favors rigid economy in expenditure of public money to lighten the tax burden of farmers and home owners. He advocates protection for depositors in state banks and building and loan companies.

Education Pays

"ROBINSON CRUSOE" is an old favorite in more ways than one of a certain junior high school boy of Marion. The boy has ideas—one especially worthy of mention—that may recall similar ruses to those who may have forgotten what they did in school.

The boy took his rather shabby volume of "Robinson Crusoe," left the first 22 pages loose, pasted the entire middle section together and left the remaining three or four pages loose.

Out of the center of the pasted section, he cut a deep pit and there's where he kept his candy supply.

Any one picking up the book would never suspect the deception until he tried to flip the pages. It was a watchful teacher who caught the student and when the book was confiscated the pit was filled with sugar-coated black gumdrops.

Enjoy Springtime

SPRING not only effects mortals and gives them a new lease on life, it has an enlivening effect on rabbits, too. The hunting season is far distant, carrot seeds are being planted, the earth is turning green with luscious food for nibbling and the rabbits are happy.

Strayed far from the fields, one little fellow was seen frantically trying to get into the postoffice yard the other day. He was panicky, running around the embankment wall, trying to get up to the green grass. Finally he found the steps and bounded up to a luncheon of tender new grass.

The urge to explore the countryside swept a pet white bunny belonging to Gwendolyn Long of 631 Pearl street and the other night he escaped from his pen. A search was made but was fruitless until a neighbor found him the next night, crouched in shrubbery, trembling with fear of the monstrous noises and things he'd encountered in the big world. He was returned to Gwendolyn and was a happy bunny to see his old familiar pen.

Brighten Dull Day

TWENTY-SIX plump little titmice, a species of bird rarely seen north of Washington, D. C., were discovered Sunday in a tree in front of the R. T. Lewis home on Vernon Heights boulevard. Mr. Lewis watched the birds through field glasses, compared their coloring with illustrations in a bird book and found it identical. Their song was the peculiar little monotone described in the book.

The titmouse is the size of a sparrow, with a topknot of a brownish color, a cream colored breast and dark back. It's plump roundness is one of its distinguishing features.

Mrs. Lewis heard the birds again Monday. Old trees are the favorites of these little birds from the south, especially oak trees, according to the bird book, and two old oak trees stand in the Lewis yard.

LOAN FOR $600 IS PASSED BY CHURCH

Trustees of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, authorized Saturday by Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court to borrow $600 to clear up debts for operating expenses of the last three years, will not need the loan since receiving a number of sizeable contributions from the church members, it was disclosed this morning by James O'Dowd, one of the trustees

The trustees in the same court order were given authority to furnish security for an unsecured loan of $2,000 obtained from the Marion Presbytery in 1926. This will be done, O'Dowd said.

TAX CUT DIDN'T HELP

RENO, Nev.—(U. P.)—Although the school tax rate here was reduced 10 cents for 1932, the taxpayers didn't benefit as increases—involving city, county and district taxes—boosted the total rate one cent with the result that residents must pay $4.44 for each $100 of assessed valuation.
